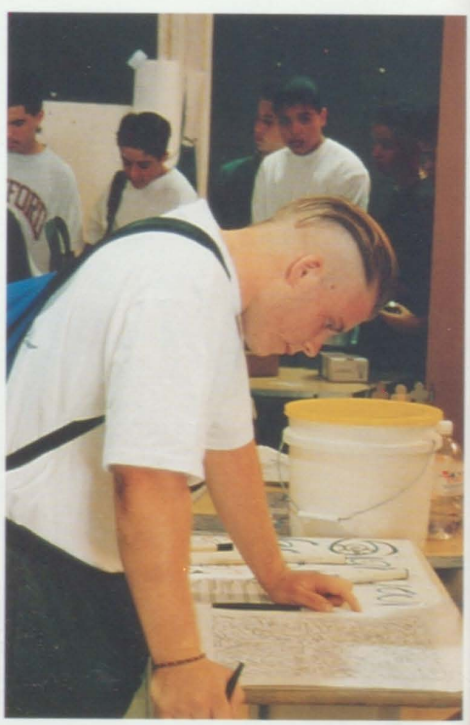
ORIENTATION

Before school even starts, the students of Washington High School, returning and new, attend orientation.

Orientation is the day when students of all grades enter a room filled with partitions creating "the maze". The maze contains many booths which offer many things to choose from. As you enter the gymnasium you're greeted by members of student council, asking your name and giving you your blank I.D. card. As you proceed through to the next booth you are welcomed by a bunch of photographers who will eventually take your picture for your I.D. card as well as your pose for the yearbook. As you progress through the maze you may stop at what some call the "cashier counter". This is where you pay for your yearbook and buy your A.S.B. sticker. The seniors will then sign the "senior shirt" and "senior banner". Orientation is also a time to meet new friends and see what's in store for the new year!

Freshmen Andrea Rodriguez and Noelle Robertson wait patiently to pay for their yearbooks and their A.S.B. cards.

Freshmen Nizar Ahmed, Daniel Eads, and Matt Johnson are very happy to see the start of their freshmen year here at Washington High School.

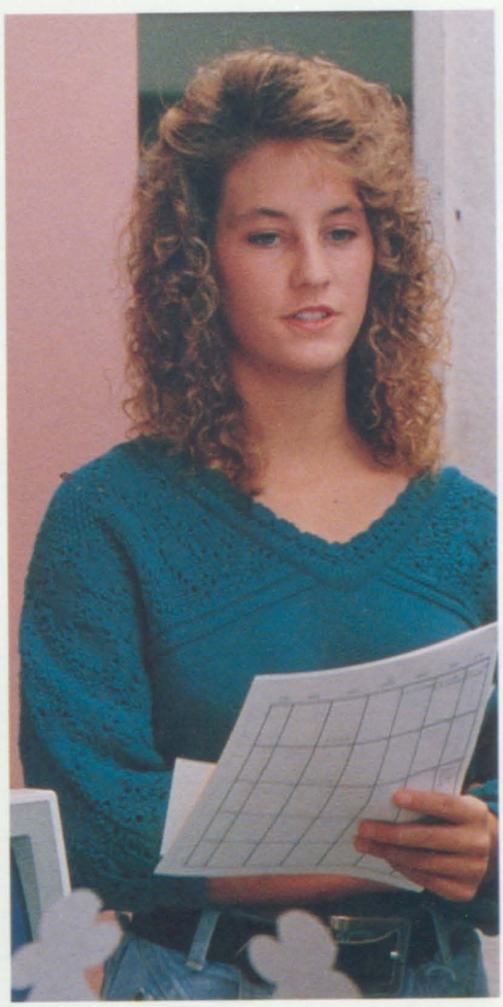


Senior Manny Gonzalez contemplates where to sign his name on the senior T-shirt. The seniors had their own booth in "the maze".

Sophomores Kari Blakely and Victoria Vincench compare schedules to see if they have any classes together during the year. Students look forward to receiving their schedules the most at orientation.

Freshmen Jessica Hickman and Annabelle Abuab look at their new freshmen I.D. cards and schedules for the up-coming year.

Student council members Joan Puim and Claire Kabahit work diligently taking attendance of all the W.H.S. students that arrive at orientation.



Junior Sally Collman looks at the 92'-93' activities calender to see what important events are going to occur this year.

LUNCHTIME

BR-ring! For most students, fourth period seems much longer than a mere 50 minutes, but once that bell rings, it is freedom for a full 40 minutes. Some bag it, some buy it, and some skip it. What is it? Lunch.

Whether you bring it to school in a brown paper bag, buy a school lunch, or head for McDonald's or Taco Bell, it is still the same-something to answer those hunger growls echoing in the hollow chamber of your stomach.

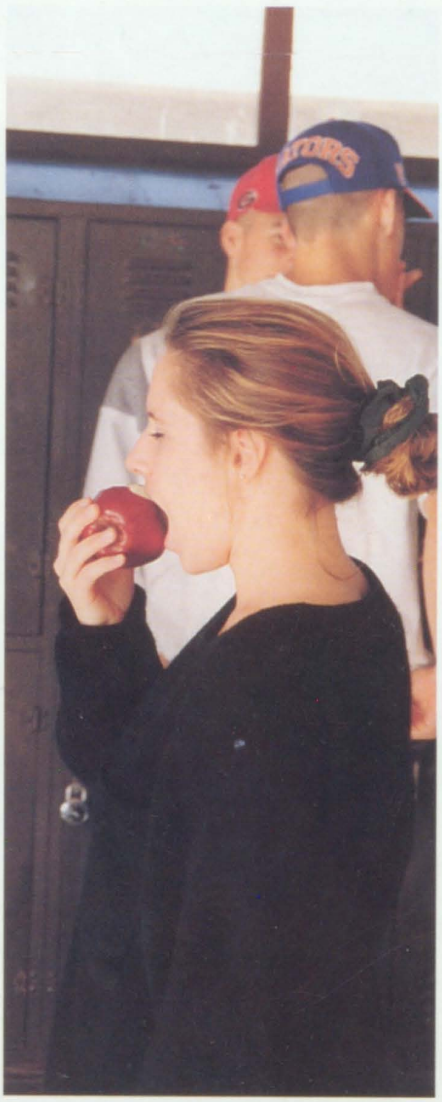
Washington High School students are fortunate to have an open campus. We can go any where between 11:20 and 12:00 everyday.

If you stay on campus you have a wide variety of scrumptious school-made foods to choose from. Off campus, the choices vary even more. Within a mile radius of school, we have fast food restaurants and supermarket take-out. But lunch is more than just about food, it's a time to talk to your friends and get a chance to meet a few more to share tomorrow's lunch with. So, eat up and enjoy the company!

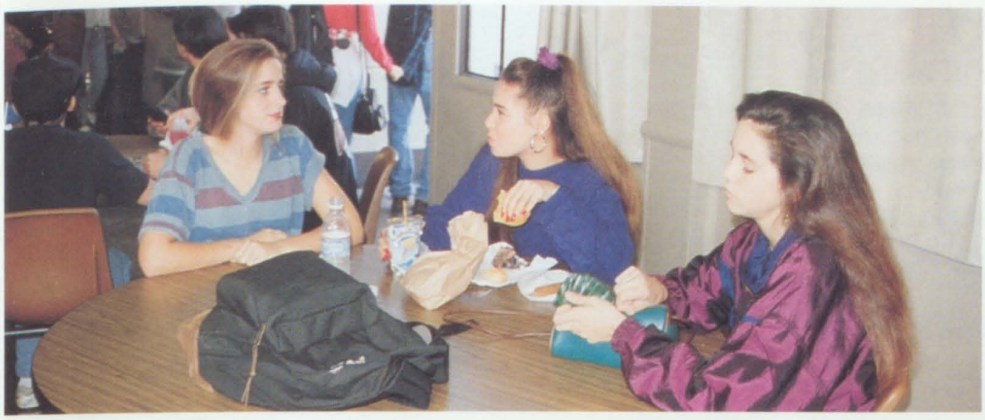
Tim Trias seems to remove a foreign object from his mouth while eating his tantalizing lunch in the cafeteria.

Dorritos and Hostess Cupcakes always make up a good, balanced, healthy lunch at school.

My, what a big apple you have there 'Lil Aimee. Hope it's good!

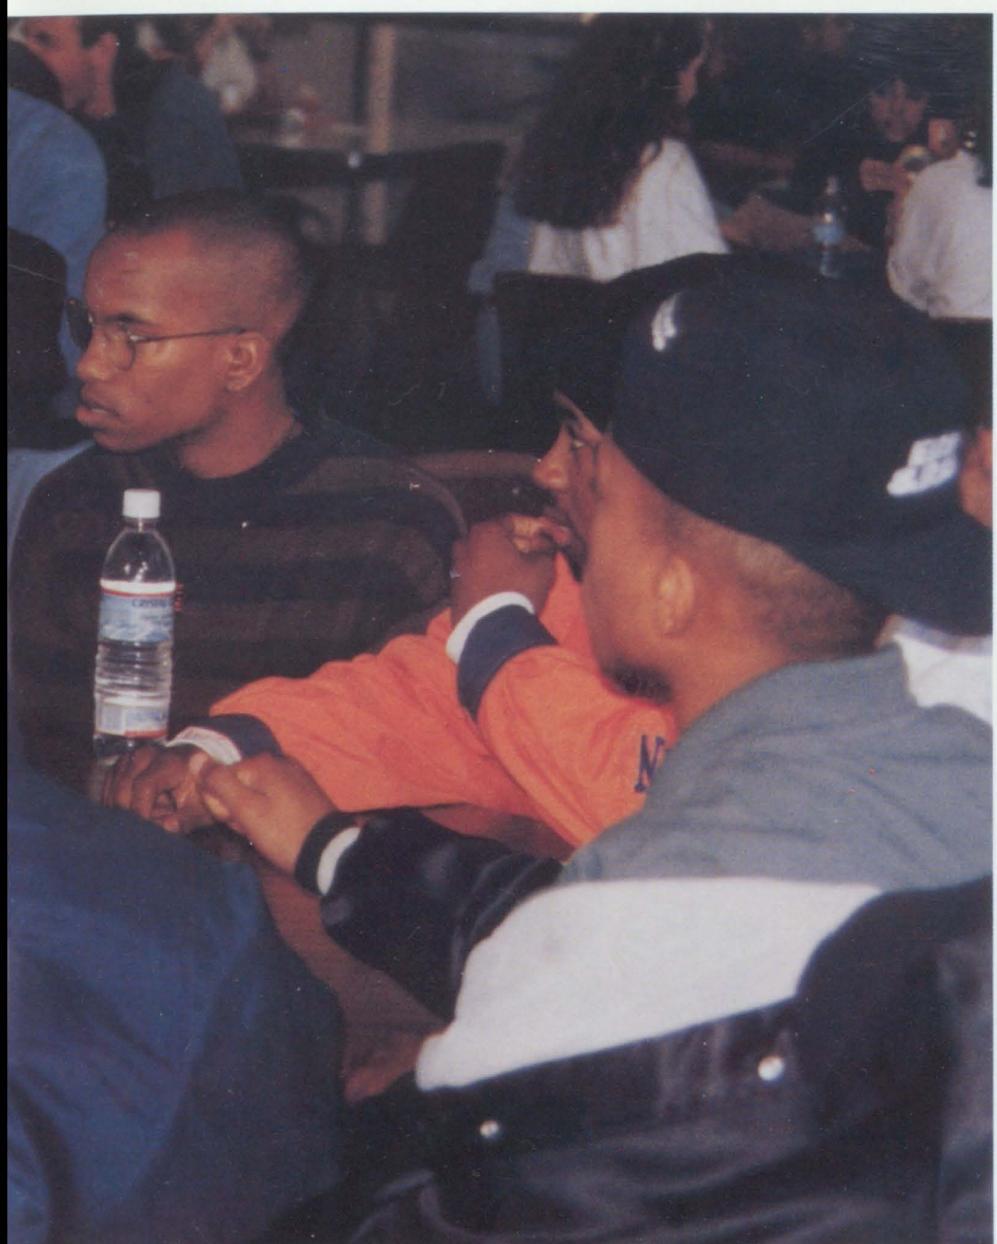


"Eat, Jonathan, eat!" Kevin Schultz cheers as Billy Boyer and Raymund Menese watch at Pizza Hut.



Carey Moyles gets out her money to buy lunch while Laura DeSousa and Geraldine Hartkamp enjoy their own.

Carrie Miller digs into the $3.99 Pizza Buffet at Pizza Hut. Smile, Carrie!



Korey Dawson, Sean Lucas and Justin Holland enjoy their lunch break in the beautiful surroundings of the Washington cafeteria.

"With free refills at Taco Bell always buy a small. That way you save money," Shea Billini advises.

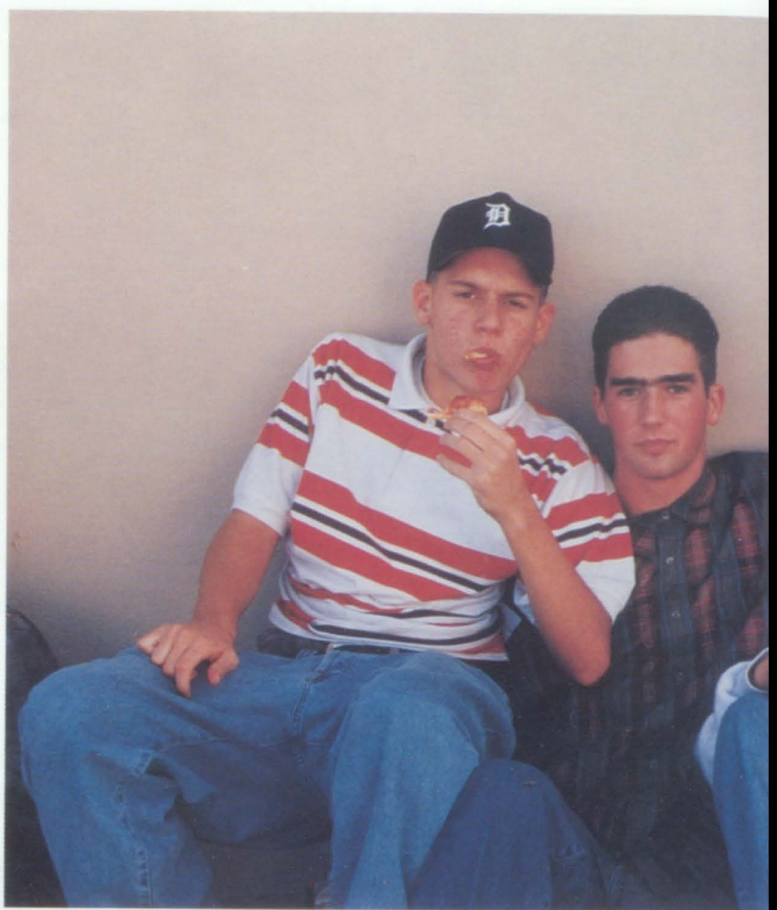
TRENDS

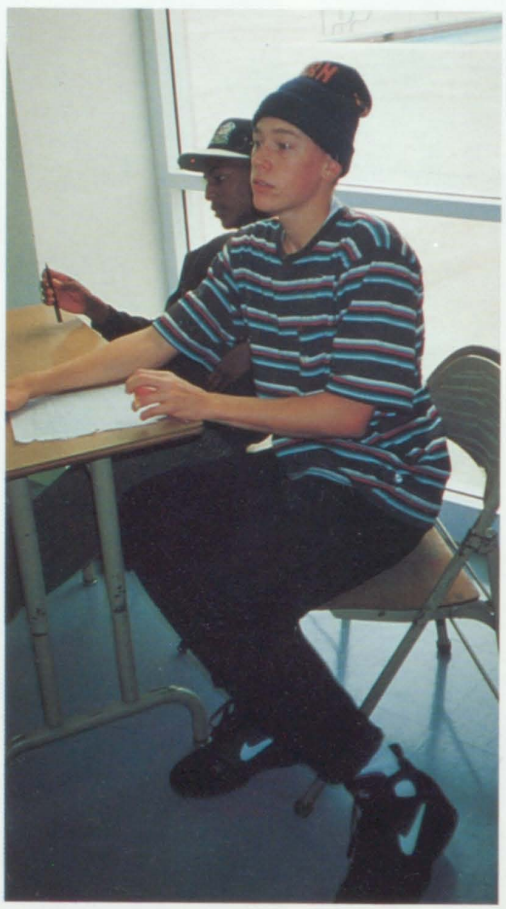
Trends are things which everyone, though they may not know why, tend to follow. They may deny it, but the driving force behind people's decisions on everything from movies to music, and even the manner in which they dress and speak, are the latest trends.

At Washington, the easiest trends to spot are those that deal with clothes. Who can fail to see all the striped or plaid shirts which have cropped up on campus this year? No one can miss the fact that the majority of pants on campus are jeans and that most jeans have become unpegged and baggy.

As mentioned before, trends don't merely reflect our opinions in fashion. Musical tastes change according to what is popular. At Washington, people enjoy the full scope of the musical spectrum.

Trends, though we may not understand them, are things which we all take note of and follow.





Mat Brooks is sitting large in his striped shirt and his trendy yarn hat as he listens to one of his friends babble.

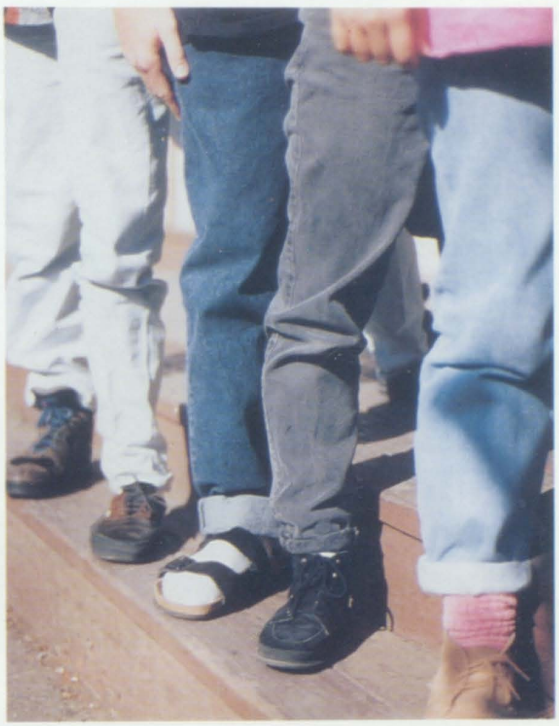
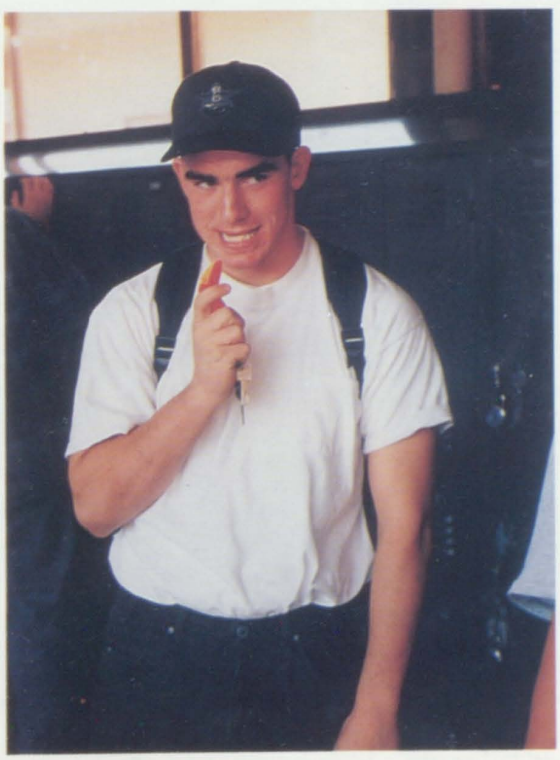
Just kickin' it at lunchtime are Brian Jones, Andy McEwen, and Brian Williams in their oh so trendy baggy clothes!

No, this isn't the chorus line but it is a good show of what one of the most popular trends were this year as shoes ranged from Birkenstocks to Keds to boots.





Smirking naughtily is Senior Brian Gelfuso as he shows off his nifty keychain while sporting his backpack on both shoulders. Does he have a secret or is that how he always looks?

SURVEY SAYS . . .
The Yearbook staff took a poll of 250 Washington high students from various English classes to find out what was "in" and what was "out". Here are the results:

Students who said they owned . . .
hiking boots 34%
Birkenstocks 24%
jeans that sag 57%
Nike Airs 48%
Stussy or Mossimo caps 15%
plaid shirts 55%

Other questions dealt with students' likes and dislikes in their everyday lives. Here's what they said.

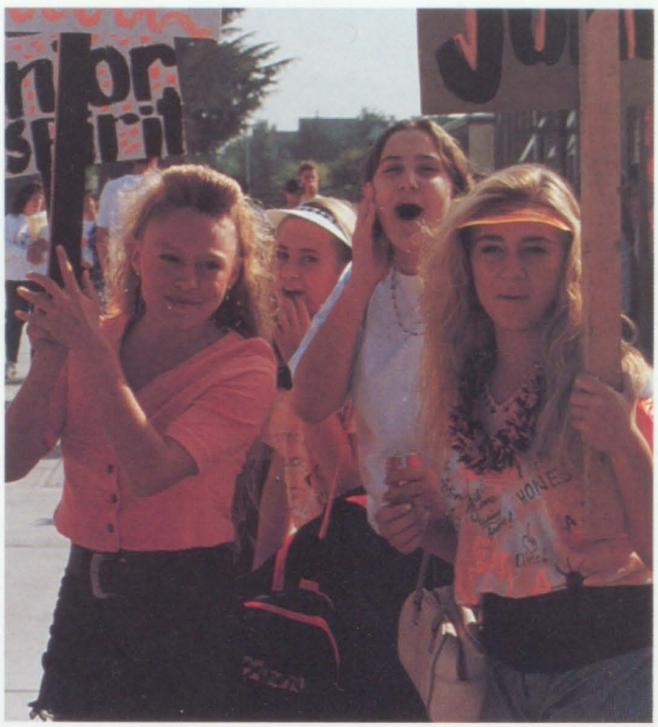
ORANGE and BLACK

We started off our spirit week celebration showing our colors and costumes. By having Orange and Black day as the first day of spirit week, we united all four classes as one, and began the week with a blast! Everyone did their best to represent our school in various ways, such as painting faces, coloring hair, and wearing clothes consisting of our colors, Orange and Black. Some people went so far as to constructing signs, buying bullhorns to make noise, and shaking around Washington High orange and black pom-poms.

Even though the classes went their separate ways during the week with the Seniors having Mafia and Army day, Juniors having Hecka Ugly and Psychedelic day, Sophomores having Hippie and Patriotic day, and the Freshmen having Hat/Tie and Opposite Sex day, everyone was sure to unite for the purpose of showing Washington's pride.

We worked well together and have impressively shown the real Husky spirit. Each class had their own unique way of showing their talent.

Juniors Amy Antle, Jamie Hunt, and Kirstin Veltman are wishing for a spirit week victory! They're hoping to pull off a surprise upset!



Waiting anxiously to go to the rally with friends is Sophomore Coral Weese.

Senior Shanna Garza is leading the other Seniors in a cheer before the rally.

Sophomores at the rally show their enthusiasm by tie dying their t-shirts orange and making the most noise possible by yelling and shaking around noise makers.

Showing their true Senior spirit are Connie Bellmer, Karin Hartkamp, and Amy Kirby.

Freshman Stephanie Lindstrom is concerned with her class in the spirit competition.

Senior James Farag is concentrating on how he can get some extra attention at the rally at lunchtime.

Senior Tanda Murdica is chanting that Seniors are #1 and supporting the class of 93.

FUNNY FACES

Serious. Responsible. Dedicated. This describes the students of Washington High School. But through the darkness of overbearing loads of homework and exams, some light shines through. It is humor in the face of realities.

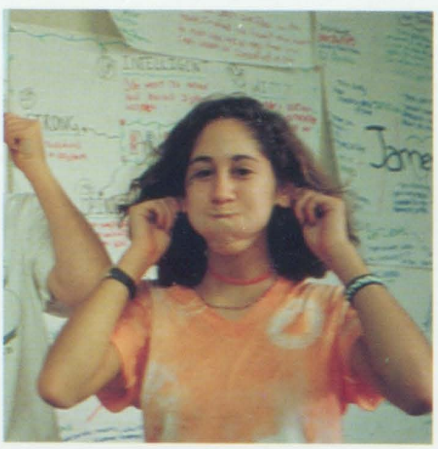
When times become dreary and desperate, a funny face is the cure. Laughter seems to be uplifting when spirits get low, and makes the journey through high school somewhat bearable.

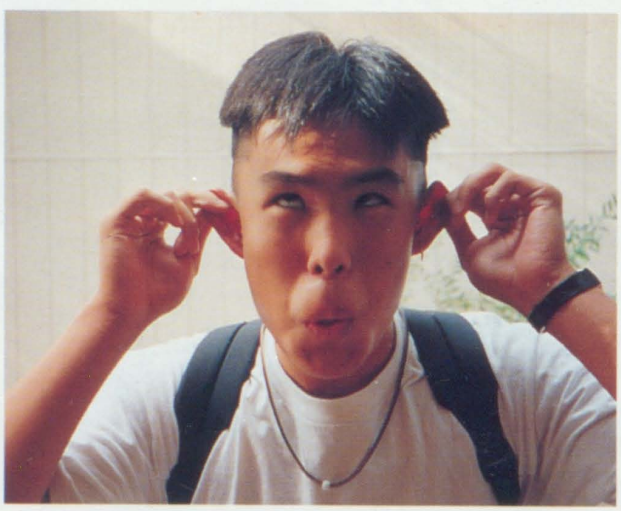
These funny faces will remind us of happier times, bringing a smile of nostalgia and smirks of amusement.

Willy Mene is living proof of the maxim, "If you make a face long enough it will get stuck."

Nothing bothers sophomore Corrine Putt more than people messing with her stuff. Her annoyance apparent on her face.

"If I hold my breath how long will it take to make my face turn blue?" thinks Sharon Turner.





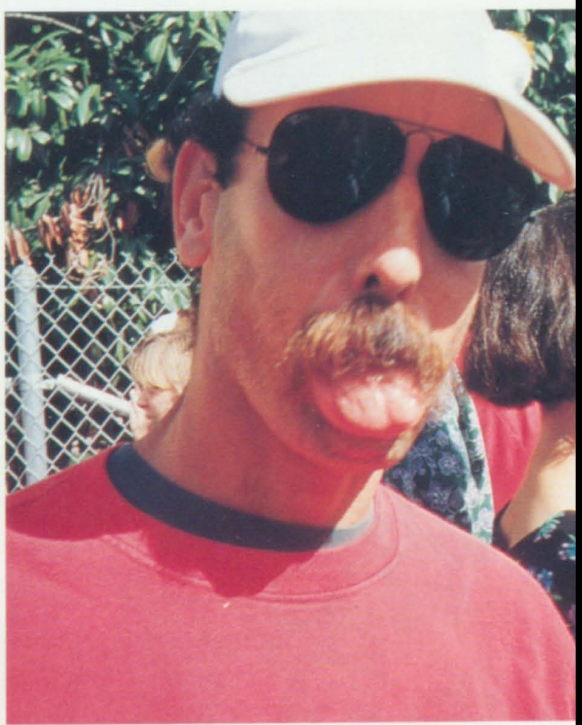
Johnny Kong tries to pass for Godzilla, but actually makes more of a cute Curious George.

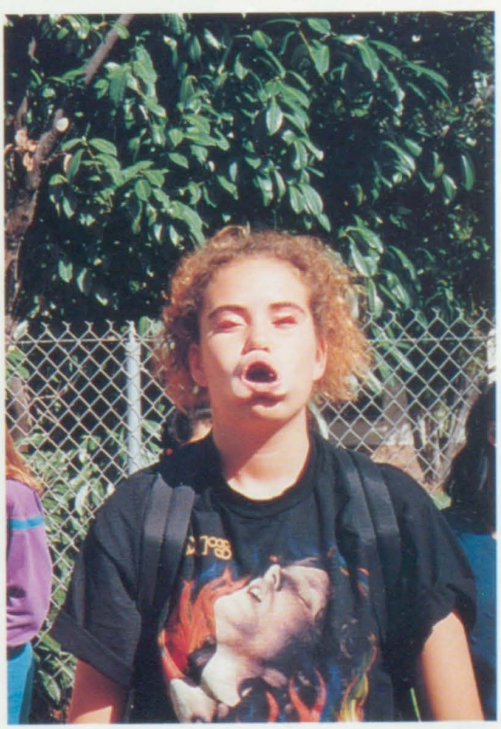
Junior Emily Hoem's face goes into shock after tasting one of the cafeterias new delicacies "burrito surprise"

What have you been eating, Sara Ghausi? I hope you killed it first.

Julie Nasseri and Michelle Gallinger, now do you understand why you never became Miss America?

Hey, Mr. Perlman, what flavor is your mustache? Chili dog or pizza?





Junior Amy O'Connor auditions for "Aleins".

Liz Mousourakis, the school meteorologist, expects a little rain.

JOBS

Part-time jobs; advantage or disadvantage? So, you can't go to the football game, but you'll have the money to go somewhere even better. That is, if you ever get a day off. So your social life is virtually non-existent because of your fun filled job. But, believe it or not, there are some advantages to this torture. Whether you work at McDonald's or Club Sport, money is money. You'll be able to afford to go out to lunch everyday so you don't have to gag on school food. You can forget about mystery pizza, burrito surprise, and crunchy hot dogs. You have the money to buy that outfit, or a new part for that thing your parents call a car.

However, a job is not just about money. You get a taste of real life. Your parents tell you that you need to prepare yourself for the real world. But, you probably just tune them out as most teenagers do. But consider the fact that they are most likely right. You may think you have a long time before you are out there, but, believe it or not, you're out there before you know it.

Working at The Limited with a mischievous look on her face, is senior Dora Rivas.

At Teacher's Helper, Danyelle Miller joyously works the computer in the front of the store.

Senior Shakia Stewart keeps the books as well as keeping customers in style at 5-7-9.

Karen Rockefellow tiredly adds up her tips after a long, hard day working at Bob's Big Boy.

Working at Au Coton is privileged senior Havila Gittings, who gets paid for talking on the phone.

At Fresh Choice, junior Tommy Rehberg stares around himself in confusion, wondering what he is doing there and what he should do.

"Paper or plastic?" asks senior Jill Manrique at her dream job as a courtesy clerk at Safeway.

Senior Mary Flores is having the time of her life stocking the hottest new items at Home Express. Doesn't this look like fun?

Putting it all into play

Sports

In the past, Husky athletics have been synonymou with excellence. Although faced with severe financia hardships in the form of budget cuts this year, the Hus kies sports programs managed to persevere and come ou with successful seasons. A donation of $50 was requested of every sports participant this year to help compensate for the loss in funding.

But before they even have to worry about the money, the athletes have to endure days and days of tryouts to make the teams. If and when they finally make the team, they are committed to rigorous practice regimens which are painfully long and hard. Through it all though, the Husky athletes have always shown us that practice pays off with their dominating performances during the heat of competition.

This year marked the beginning of a new era. The Huskies returned to a new home in the form of a freshly completed gym. After three years of having teams which were always forced to be visitors, Washington students finally had a place to call their own. With a place to hold practices, our teams could concentrate on honing their skill and return to the business of being the best. Although they went for three years without a gym, the Huskies still succeeded in all contests of speed, strength, and skill. They continued the tradition this past year both home and away.

In the future, Husky fans can look to their teams for a continued source of pride and spirit. The Huskies always have and always will be a powerful force to be reckoned with in the Mission Valley Athletic League.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross Country is a wonderful sport filled with hills and plenty of running. Why do they love to run? Even they don't know why. Coach Young's effort to drive them and inspire them keeps them running throughout the season and you know these athletes can't wait until next year's season to improve. After school everyday you can spot these incredible athletes running from corner to corner through the streets of Fremont, sounds like fun doesn't it?

The endurance and strength both mentally and physically that these runners develop is an achievement they can be proud of. Every runner's desire is to strive for that first place and experience a taste of victory. But this reward never comes easily for those who consider themselves 'true runners'. It takes hours of practice to become good and practice is what they're known for.

Whether they're Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors or Seniors, they all try just as hard and deserve much congratulations for a tough season with a good amount of competition. Cross Country athletes, feel proud of yourselves and give yourselves credit for making Washington High School one of the best. Good job Huskies!

VARSITY FOOTBALL

After a disappointing start in pre-season with a record of 0-3, the Huskies came back with a second place tie and a record of 5-2 in league. The whole team excelled through the season and held up to this year's theme ... PTA-Pride, Togetherness, Attitude.

The pre-season schedule consisted of top ranked teams which gave the Huskies a run for their money. Even though losses came out of it, they played well. When league started, the Huskies played one of the toughest teams first, Newark Memorial. After a disappointing loss with a score 14-0, the team rallied back and overtook Irvington, 16-13. The next two games were won by Washington. Logan came next. Unfortunately the Colts took the game. The remainder of the games were won, including the Homecoming game against American. The season ended on a good note and overall, it was a success. 2nd place is something to be proud of, whatever way you look at it. Good job guys!

J.V. FOOTBALL

While many of us were worried about where to go last summer, our dedicated football players were worried about what kind of day it was going to be, would this double day be easy or hard.

Our young but strong team showed us just how dedicated they were last summer. While being 8-1 towards the end of the season, they looked as if they would continue to hold on to the first spot in MVAL.

Their winning streak could be explained by the dedication of the players as well as the coaches. To be able to take any everyday kid off the street and turn them into fighting football players is not an easy feat.

To all you J.V. players out there, we at Washington High would like to thank you all for being so dedicated to Husky football. Congratulations on a great season this year. Good Luck next year!

"Here it goes", thinks Toby Vares, "I just hope I kick the ball before that big guy gets here."

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

1st: T. Trias, J. Barba, J. Pineda, A. Rodriguez, M. Balelo, A. Rodriguez, M. Richardson, 2nd: M. Langridge, M. Johnson, K. Veltman, D. Leon, P. Gutierrez, J. Shepherd, M. Dalisay, 3rd: D. Beck, A. Gannon, J. Little, B. Reyes, M. Holmes, J. Turner, D. Eleazarraraz, J. Ross.

To many of us, the Freshman football team is something that is not thought of daily. When we see those bright orange jersey's we don't think of the embarrassment that they must go through every week. Inside of those little guys are big mean football players ready to kill the next team that gets in the way. They are anxiously waiting to prove that they are really serious about football.

We don't often give them enough credit for doing a job well done. We forget that those little guys are holding the Husky Football tradition on their shoulders, as well as all that padding. For a little guy, that is almost enough to make them want to go and hide. They don't though, because they have a dream, the dream of playing football under the bright lights of Tak. To all you Husky Pups, I hope your dream comes true. Good Luck next year as J.V. players!

GYMNASTICS

Having only the four members necessary to have a team, the Girls Varsity Gymnastics team was hard pressed this year. Despite having three returning varsity members, the team struggled through the season.

The lady Huskies started off the season with a tough loss to Logan, 111.9 to 103.8. The team then dropped a meet to power-house Newark Memorial.

The Huskies then lost a heartbreaker to Mission. Despite winning the all-around event in both the Elite and Varsity divisions, the team lost 111 to 106.3.

The Huskies finished strong however. They pounded Miramonte 113.4 to 30.2. The Huskies also received a forfeit from Las Lomas to finish the season 2-3 overall.

Only one Varsity - Elite member competed at the M.V.A.L. competition.

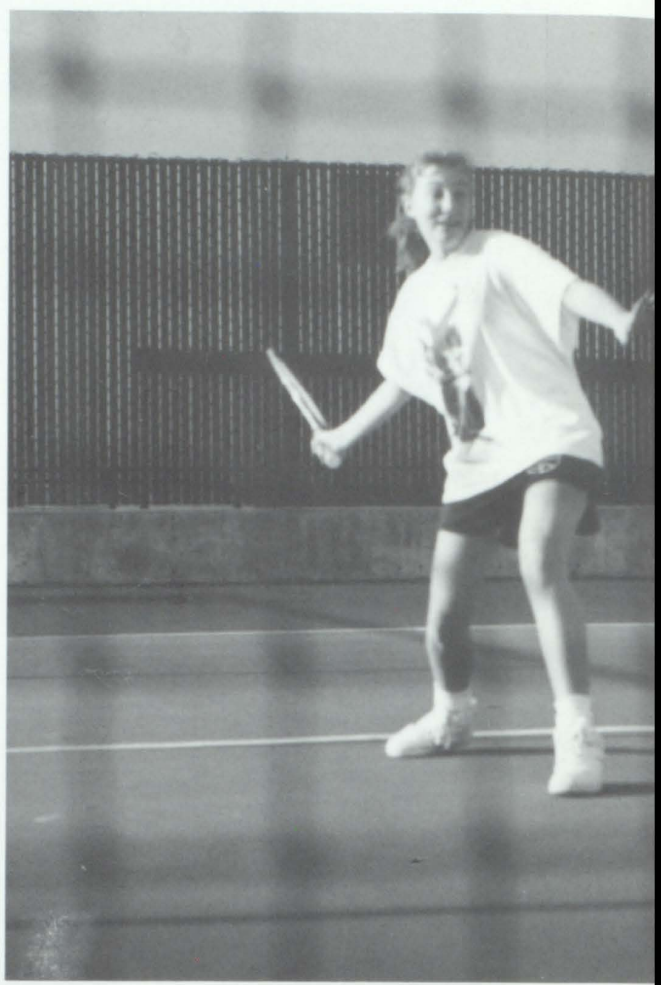
GIRLS TENNIS

Girls' Tennis had a very solid year even after losing five players from last year's team. Both teams placed a strong fourth in the league. Stephanie Brownstein, the girls' coach was extremely proud of the team and their efforts in staying together. She said "I'd give them an A+ for effort they really played their hearts out."

The varsity team gave a strong showing even after many changes in their singles and doubles line-up because of injuries and the five lost players. Many Junior Varsity players and even two outstanding Freshmen players moved up to Varsity.

This year's Junior Varsity team was very large with many incoming Freshmen. Coach Brownstein was very pleased at how they played. She said "They worked and played very hard, and I'm proud of both teams."



Watch out coach Brownstein, one of your distraught players is mistaking your head for the tennis ball.

VOLLEYBALL

After two years of being on the road, the Washington High School varsity volleyball team was led to another year of post-season play by Coach Marie Dean. The Huskies, who lost in the first round of the Shaughnessy Playoffs to MVAL Co-champs James Logan High School, had strong play from the net and also the back row. The Huskies played strong against powerhouses James Logan and Mission San Jose, and won important games against John F. Kennedy, Newark Memorial, and American.

The Junior Varsity volleyball team had a great season under Coach Kit McKeon, only losing a total of two games all year. Losing only to Mission San Jose and Moreau, the Husky girls ended with a very proud record of 12-2. As in the varsity team, the junior varsity girls also have strong play at the net and excellent back row play. Key wins came for the junior varsity team against Mission San Jose, Moreau, and James Logan, which enabled them to capture second place in league play.

The Husky girls varsity team is expected to have a strong offensive-defensive next season and should do exceptionally well. Their eight Seniors are leaving the team, but also leaving eight openings for next year's team.

SENIORS: Tanda Murdica, Nicole Bodily, Heather Goodwin, Shonna Moran, Vanessa Marchis, Melanie Duchesne, Molyn Ito, and Amy Bettencourt.

Sophomores Amber Bodily and Erin Wittenberger, and Freshman Miko Kamei are focused on the game and give their look of determination.

Sophomore Corinne Putt bumps the volleyball in attempt to keep the play alive for her lady husky teammates.

VARSITY BOYS BASKETBALL

The combination of strength, confidence, agility, speed, precision, and new talent is what makes a good basketball team. The 1992-1993 Husky team proved to have all these and more.

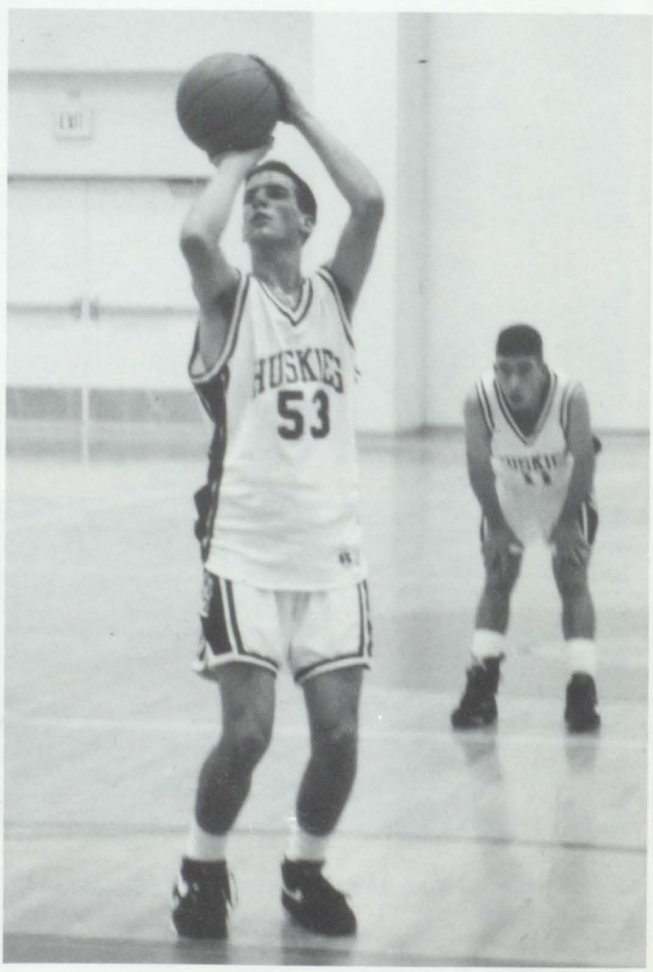
With six returning varsity players, the team started off on the right foot. Added to this was a new group of guys that could do nothing but make the team better. Under that guidance of Coach Guin Boggs, the Huskies proved to the opposing teams that they were ones to contend with.

The Huskies dominated the Mission Valley Athletic League, taking the championship, for the first time since 1977. They went all the way to the North Coast Section Division III finals. It proved to be Coach Bogg's best record in his 12 years of coaching in the MVAL.

SENIORS: Kyle Barker, Brent Petersen, Aaron Lozano, James Giacomazzi, Jeff Weed, Marc Barretta, Mat Bradley, and Titus Addison.

During one of the team's many grueling practices, Coach Boggs lets them fool around for a while as he slam dunks (with the rim lowered of course!)

Junior Paul Burgess displays how the Husky offense was able to prevail this year, as he passes the ball right through the opposing team's hands.



Junior Jacob Aro prepares to launch his powerful freethrow during one of the many games in the Huskies new home, the Sports Arena.

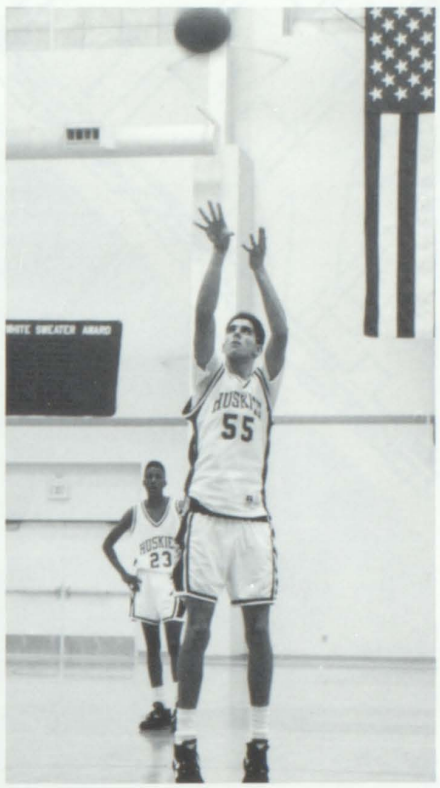
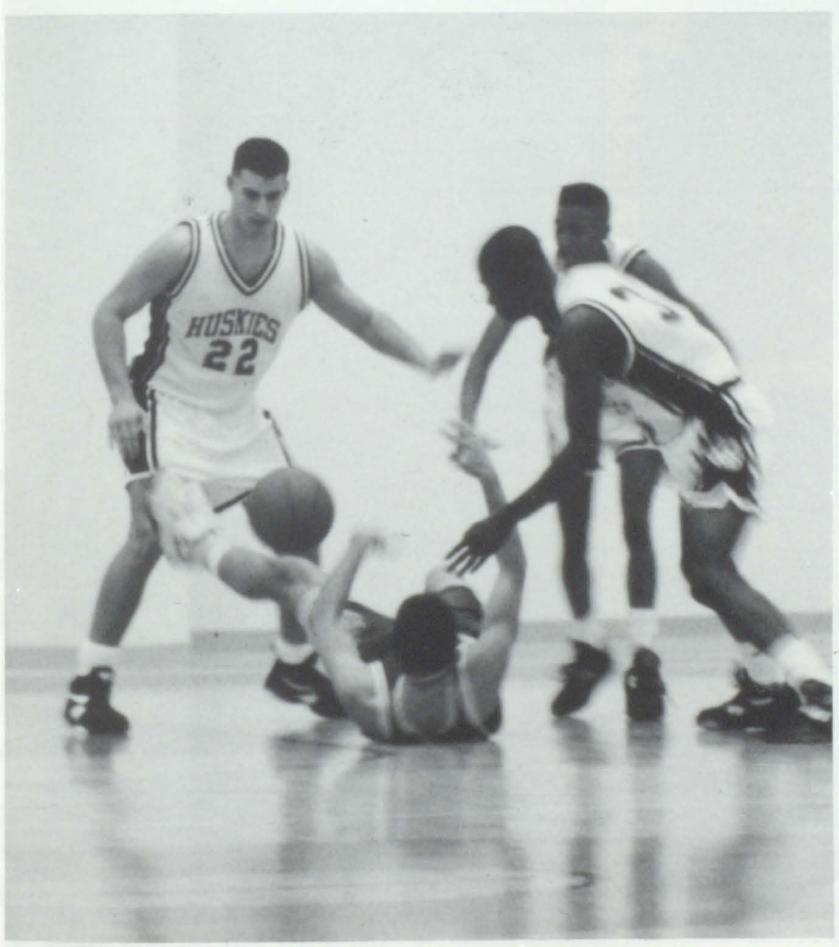
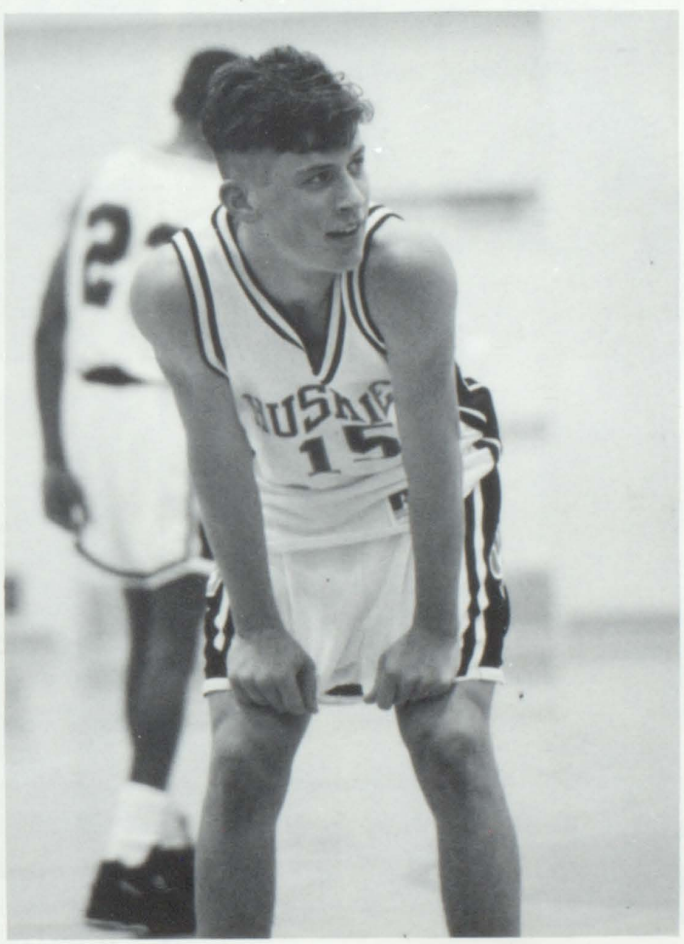
James Giacomazzi, senior, watches his free throw fly through the air and hit nothing but net!





Three of the Husky starters, Aaron Lozano, Vince McGautha, and Titus Addison, all had been ready for a chance to snatch the ball, and now the opportunity presents itself.



While watching for the opportunity to make his next move on the Husky offense plan, Toby Vares decides it's a good time to take a rest.

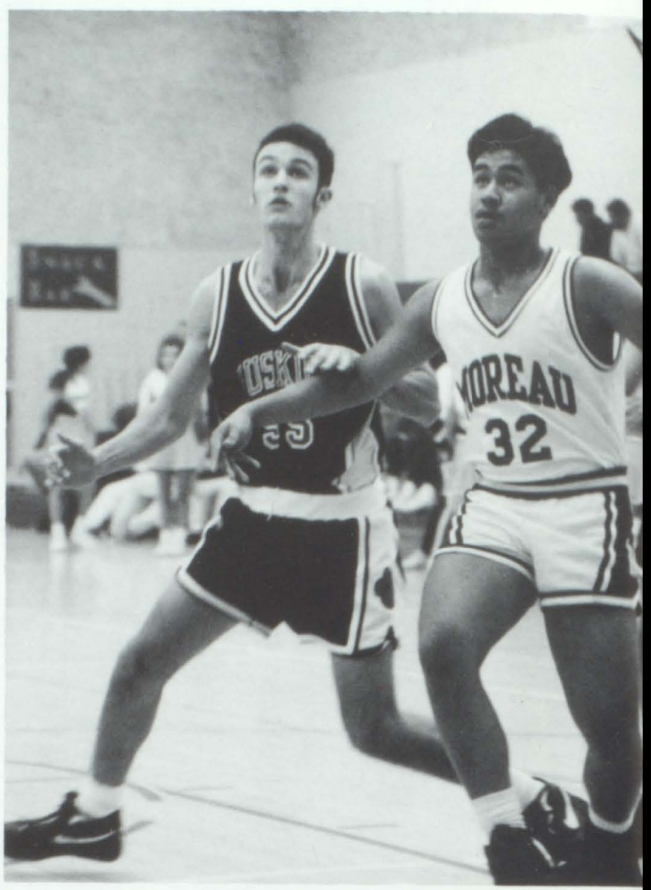
BOYS J.V. BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity Basketball team was very competitive this year. With a couple of players over six feet tall the Huskies had a distinct size advantage. They could go down to the low post for a quick score anytime. But they were also a threat from downtown. Busting a "Trey" was never a problem for the Junior Varsity team.

But the Huskies also had a tenacious defense that was always causing turnovers. This well balanced attack made the Huskies a threat at all times.

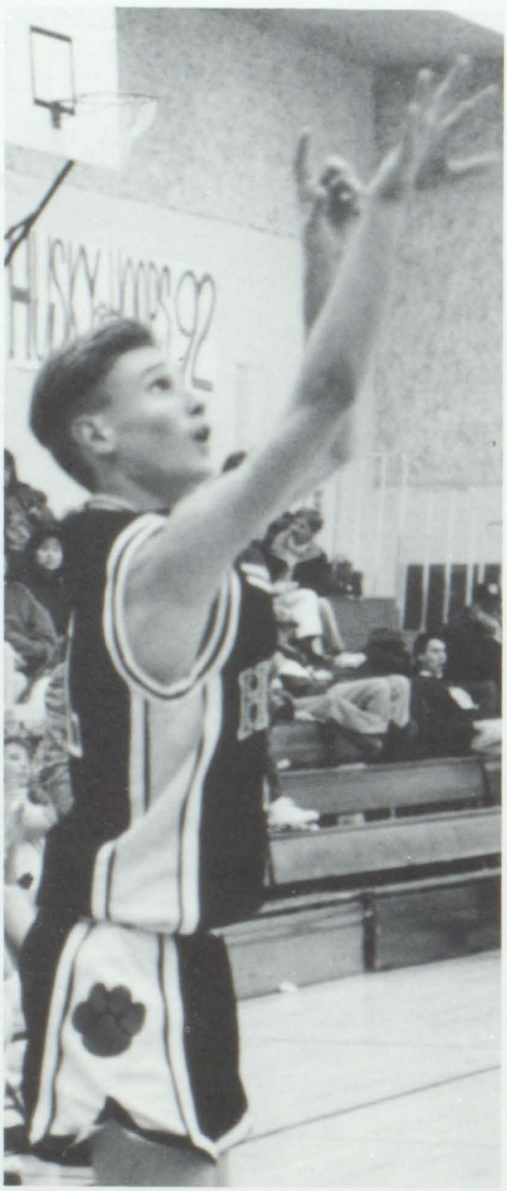
Perhaps the greatest thing going for the Huskies this year was the gym. After three years without a true home game the Huskies returned home. In their new state of the art sports arena the Junior Varsity team was always a dominant force.

All of this put together is what made the season for the J.V. team so very productive.



Sophomore Pat Dempsey fights a Moreau defender for a rebound after one of many Husky freethrows.

The tenacious husky defense double teams a Moreau player in hopes of causing yet another turnover.



Sophomore Mark Gleason watches his three point shot from the base line fall through the hoop and hit nothing but net.

BOYS FROSH BASKETBALL

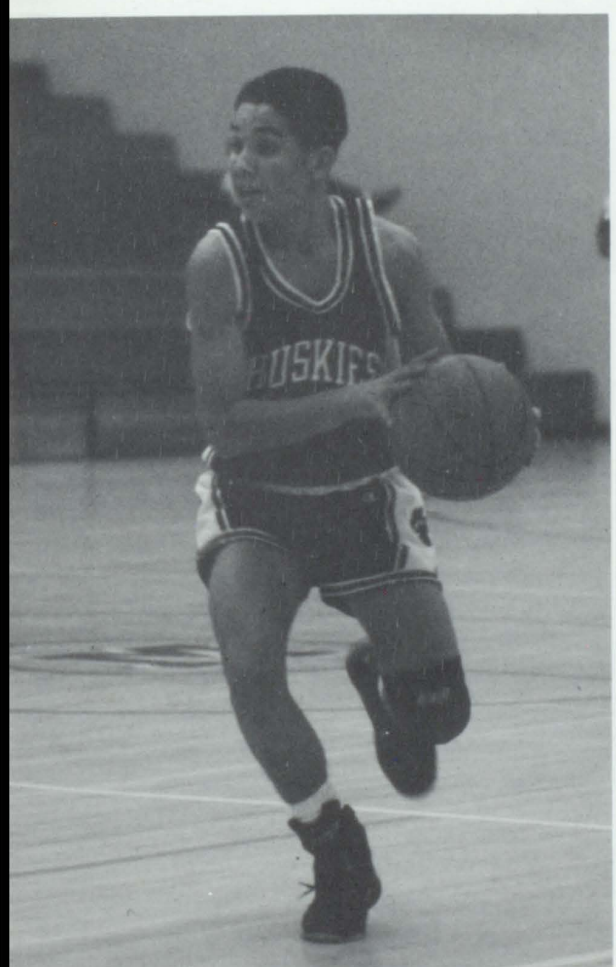
Around High School Freshmen are viewed as being inexperienced. But, the Freshmen Basketball team is very skilled at what they do. The players on the team have been playing virtually all of their lives so they are quite talented.

The Freshmen team was relatively small and had no size advantage over any team. But what they lacked in size they made up for in pure heart. The team was always hustling for the ball. Watching a player dive out of bounds or to the floor for a loose ball was a common occurrence at the Freshmen Basketball games. The team never gave up and always played their hardest.

The team also returned home to the Husky Sports Arena. After three years without a real home game the team finally had a place to call their own. In their new gym the Huskies were always a tough team to beat.

The new gym and the determined attitude of the players made the Freshmen Basketball Team a very tough opponent.



Ruben Orozco, the point guard, looks for a passing lane down to the low post.

Brad Klein skies for two points over the Moreau defenders.

The Freshmen Basketball Team huddles together to listen to the coach's game plan before continuing the game after a much needed time out.

GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL

The 1992-93 Girls Varsity Basketball team has put this years winning combination together through hardwork, togetherness, and leadership which was shown in teamwork. Most of the Leadership came from the four returning seniors from last years Washington High Girls Basketball team. They have five girls returning overall. The Lady Huskies winning combination consisted of great backcourt play from the guards, and tremendous frontcourt play led by the Mission Valley Athletic League's leading scorer. The Lady Huskies had high hopes for this season. One goal being to win the M.V.A.L. championship, the other being to qualify for N.C.S. post season playoffs. These goals were tough, but realistic. This year the M.V.A.L. figured to be as strong as ever with James Logan and Moreau having great teams. Congratulations on a season well done!

J.V. GIRLS BASKETBALL

With the opening of a new gym, the teams of Washington elevated their spirit and determination to new heights. The Washington High junior varsity girls basketball team was no exception.

Though plagued with many disappointingly close losses throughout the season, the team still managed to persevere through practices everyday after school and play their games with the fullest spirit and determination possible.

The position of junior varsity is a thankless one; people don't go to their games and no one seems to care. Nevertheless this year's team took to the court in force with the hope of moving up to varsity next year.

Washington High school is lucky to have such a dedicated team playing for it. Thanks ladies!

BOYS SOCCER

Boys soccer at Washington is a sport in an especially unique position. This is because there is no J.V. team, there is only a varsity team. This means that the varsity team is made up of members from all of the classes, not just seniors, juniors, and the occasional sophomores. Despite the diversity of the ages in the athletes, Washington always manages to field an extremely successful soccer team.

Since soccer is such a popular sport in Fremont, about fifty students tried out for the team. The field had to be narrowed down to just eighteen players. The team was made up of just three freshmen, six sophomores, five juniors, and four seniors.

Led by coach Jerry Losson, the Huskies had a very successful year. With a powerful offense and a strong defense, the Huskies battled through the MVAL against such tough teams as Mission, Logan, and Newark. Although it will be difficult filling the spots of the graduating seniors, next year's team promises to do very well with a strong nucleus of young players.

The games this year were very exciting and fast paced, which drew large crowds each time the team took the field. With power, agility, and speed, our soccer team once again completed an exciting year, carrying on the Husky tradition.

GIRLS SOCCER

The 1992-93 Washington girls varsity soccer team was once again led by coaches Terry Wanger, Simon Barros, and goalie coach Steve Brandon. The trio of coaches returned after a great first year as coaches at Washington High. They led last year's team to a second place MVAL finish.

After a promising pre-season the Huskies started out this year's league play by displaying their immense strength as they proceeded to demolish Kennedy with an astounding 12-1 victory. Pretty good for a team with only one returning senior. This year's team was made up of a lot of underclassmen, but the young blood proved to be advantageous to the team. The team consisted predominately of sophomores with a whopping eleven members. The remainder of the team was made up of four freshmen and four juniors.

Although at the end of the season the team is going to lose a key four year player, next year's team can be expected to have an equally outstanding season. This is because the coaches will be working with many experienced players. The girls will be familiar with each other's abilities and style of play which will ultimately prove to be to their advantage.

WRESTLING

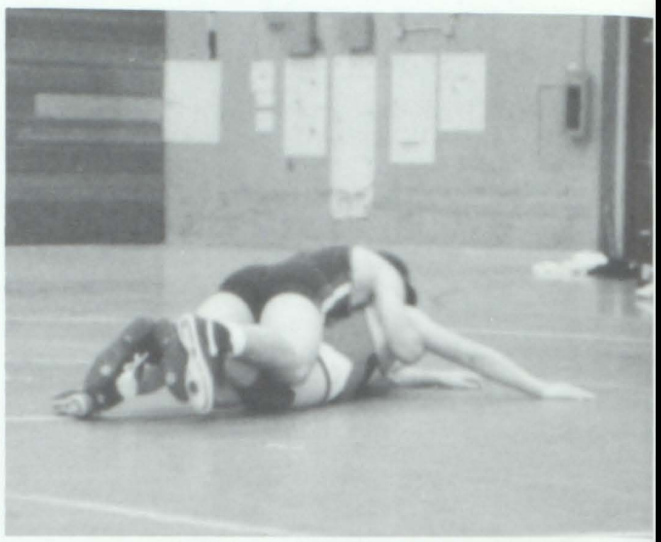
Wrestling this year was very exciting! This sport provided a great opportunity to practice on one's strength, stamina and competitive edge.

These guys practiced everyday in order to get better and beat their competition. This year they had the wonderful opportunity to use the brand new gym for their practices. They worked out and had practice in the auxiliary gym, where their equipment was set up.

If you had ever been to a wrestling match, you would realize how hard these guys worked, sweat, and strained and it really payed off when the whole team won.

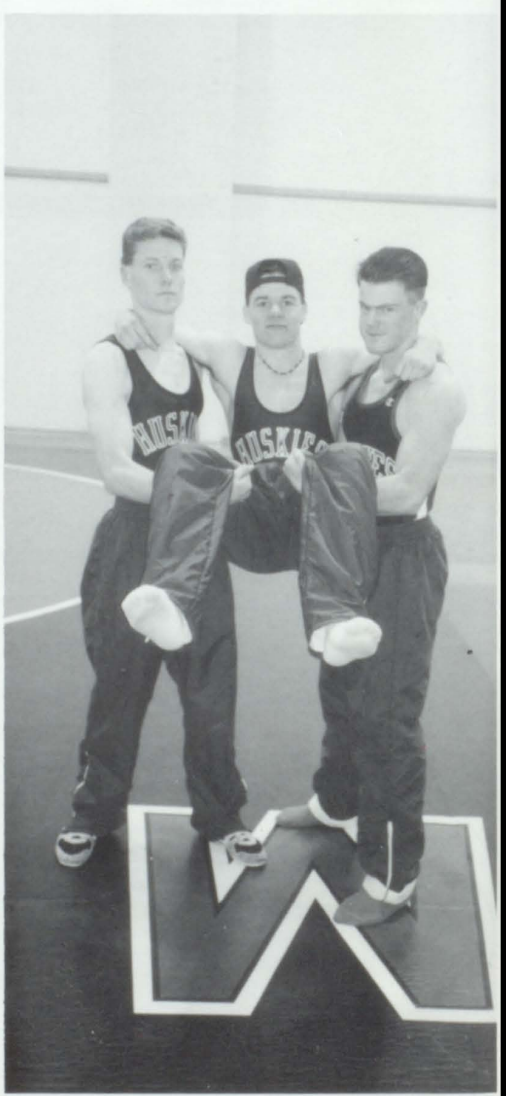
In order to succeed in wrestling and in order to get better and win, these men had to be incredibly dedicated to their sport and have a strong desire to win. Wrestling was extremely demanding because it forced them to compete against one anothers strength. Therefore every wrestling match was different with varying opponents' strengths.

Now that this strong Husky wrestler has got his opponent under control he is never letting go of this scoundrel.

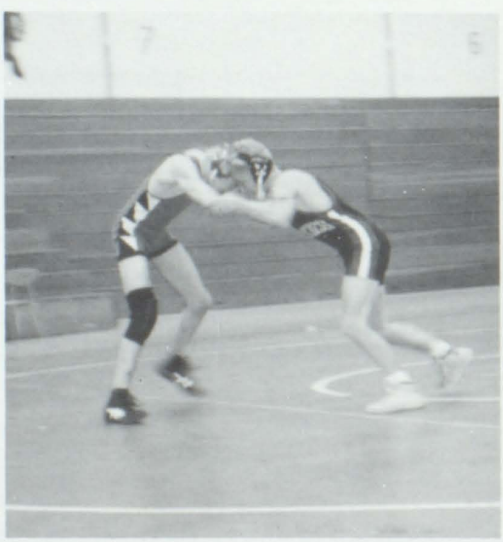


Charone Speed bows to his enemy before mutilating him with his super-human powers.

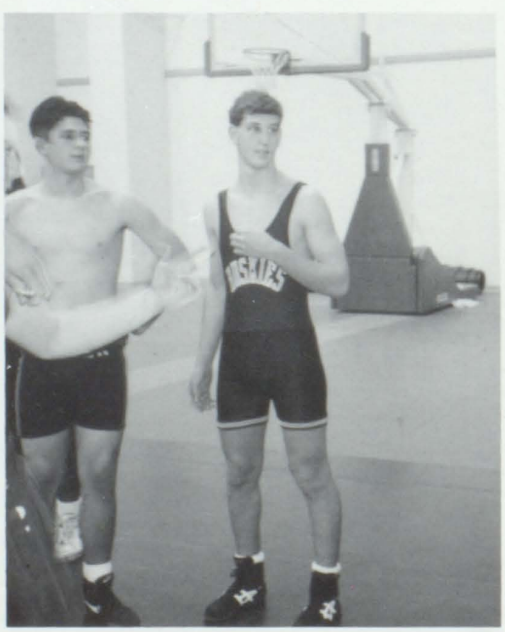
Joel Sandoz threatens to annihilate his opponent hoping that he will take the victory.



Seniors Dan Southworth, Jeff Marshall, and Joel Sandoz practice their mean looks on the camera, but we know they're really nice guys.



Brent Miller realizes that he and his opponent aren't going to get anywhere this way, what a workout!



"Hey, are you sure we really have to do this? I really have to wrestle HIM?" Wonders Ure Roudman.

BADMINTON

To most of us badminton is a sport that never really comes to mind as a sport we would enjoy. That would be because in our minds badminton is a sport that has little or no skill involved, but that is far from the truth. The game of badminton is similar to the game of tennis, except in badminton you hit a birdie instead of a ball and a badminton racquet is much lighter than a tennis racquet. Those of us who have played badminton, know that it is a very competitive sport and requires quick reflexes, strong arms, and a passion for game strategies. This year started fresh with a new coach as well as a new gym. Coach Eric Cheah, started his first year at Washington, but was very confident that this year's team would do well. After many years of playing competitively in badminton, Coach Cheah felt that his experience would help him enhance his coaching ability.

This year's team was a young team, but with determination they went far. After long hours of practice the abilities of each player started to show. With this they hoped that this year's team would go as far as NCS. Congratulations to all the players that competed this year.

If you are ever to succeed in badminton, you have to learn the prop techniques in a back hand stroke, explains Jeanna Lee.

Here Van Nguy shows us how our body is to be angled in order to play a winning game.

Here we see that at the beginning of the season they might look rusty, but as the season progresses they will improve.

BASEBALL

base ball (bas'bol')n. 1. A game played with a wooden bat and hard ball by two opposing teams playing alternately in the field and at bat, the players at bat having to run a course of four bases laid out in a diamond pattern in order to score. Sounds easy right? Baseball is actually more complicated than it sounds. It requires a lot of skill. The old wooden bats have now been replaced by aluminum ones and the old baggy pants players have been replaced by a set of new ones. At Washington our Varsity team is made up of 16 great athletes. Not only are we the defending MVAL champs we are returning many players from last year's winning season. The team is represented by seven seniors, eight juniors, and one lone sophomore.

GOLF

When most people think about golf they don't think too long. They might think that golf isn't very exciting, in fact, down right boring. These people have obviously never really played. Once you are out on the green golf is quite engrossing.

True, it isn't exactly a fast moving sport, but it requires just as much skill and concentration as any action packed sport.

Golf is a cerebral game. It requires a great deal of focus on details. The slightest flaw in form can send the ball slicing left or hooking right. The most minute imperfections in a putt can cost a key birdie.

This years golf team knew all of this and therefore executed all of their moves with perfection. With a deep varsity team the Huskies were a dominant force in the golf league.

Although the Huskies were made up mostly of underclassmen, they were very skilled. The team always seemed to be able to produce a key putt anytime it was needed. But most of the time the Huskies were on top of their game and the other team.

Freshman Jason Krochak shows how skilled he is for such a young player as he demonstrates perfect form in his swing.

Senior Dennis Manganon, the number one varsity player, models his golfing attire and his flawless swing as he tees off from the third hole at the Sunol Valley Golf Course.

SOFTBALL

It's about that time of the season again where everyone comes out to smell the freshly cut grass, enjoy cracking out the sunflower seeds, and watch the girls swing the aluminum.

The Lady Huskies had a successful season from start to finish under the direction of Coach Marie Dean. The goal among the teams' members is to develop a solid system of communication and to know each other's individual role on the team. They proved they accomplished their goal by the outcome of the season.

The Lady Huskies faced some really tough Mission Valley Athletic League opponents this year and proved themselves by giving every team tough competition. And the next spring season should be really competitive for other schools because we have some high-quality returners.

BOYS SWIMMING

The husky boys swim team has proven once again this year, that they are definitely not to be overlooked.

Although it can be considered an individual sport, the team unity is needed to keep the individual motivated and going through the tough races.

Coached again by Coach Don French, the guys had a successful season at having fun and getting tan.

As the pool finally opened, the team spirit soared, meets were finally competed here, at home. With this factor the Husky swimmers were compelled to be the successful team they knew they could be. With rowdy chants and cheers at the start of each challenging meet they formed a comradery that helped them glide to each victory.

Sophomore Zach Raby shows his perfect Husky form while swimming one of the many breaststroke races he competed in this past year.

Junior Garth Kimball decides he's had enough of the seriousness behind the races and starts to goof-off.

GIRLS SWIMMING

When swim season came around this year the girls swim team was definitely ready. This turnout provided Coach Tom Wilson with more than 70 girls to coach. The excitement for the new season to begin lead the girls to the pool every day at 3:00 o'clock ready for practice.

They began competition with a bang, starting with several pre-season meets. By the time MVAL meets began they were ready to get the job done. Under the leadership of their coach they were able to secure their dominance proving to be a major contender in the fight for the first place Mission Valley Athletic League title. Each athlete on the team proved to be versatile allowing the girls to leave their rivals in their wake. They swam strong in every area proving to be true Huskies. Cheering fellow teammates on at every event was a common sight which showed the strong comradery that had developed between the girls. Their successful season can be attributed to the positive attitudes that were in each and every swimmer. Being faced with such tough competitors made their successes even more worthwhile. As always the Husky swimmers struck fear into the heart of every rival team they faced. Congratulations girls!

BOYS TENNIS

The ball lands on the line, the score is now 30-15. An ace is served. The game set match and Washington has defeated yet another lowly competitor.

This season Coach Keith Kato drilled the team, once again, into the performances of perfection they displayed each week. Their mix of Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors gave the Huskies a depth that threatened each team that dared to challenge them.

Their practices were filled with hard exercises, which they repeated over and over. What most of the team agreed was the worst part of the practices were the one and two mile runs they had to go on.

With the determination seeping from each player, there was a force which drove them to strive for first place in the MVAL title, which had tempted the year before.

They ended their season strongly and with style. Each member added his own contribution to what became a great season. Good job guys!!!

Junior Matt Peters shows off a style all his own as he puts all his body's weight into the ball, sending it through the air.

TRACK & FIELD

Track and field may be thought of as a wimp sport, but in truth, it isn't. The brave athletes who go out for this sport are anything but wimps. They endure grueling practices in any kind of weather. Imagine running a couple of miles in ninety-degree weather. Sometimes these practices can last well into the evening. There goes their homework time. These people must be dedicated and hardworking to stick to this sport.

It's not just long distance running and sprints as some may think. It also includes hurdles, high jump, long jump, triple jump, shot and discus, and the polevault. You may think, "Oh, sure. That's easy." But try jumping over hurdles without banging up your legs. Or running long distance without collapsing from lack of air.

After many long practices the team then goes on to compete in meets against other schools. Then the team hopefully moves on to the Meet Of Champions, a.k.a. MOC's. From there they go on to state and possibly on to nationals. Congratulations to the team for a job well done.

Coach Young takes time out to help Kyle Donavan with his handoff form. Handing off requires precision and exactness, and the Huskies showed this season that they have both.

Junior Sean Howarth thinks to himself, "I think I can, I think I can . . ." as freshman Kevin Johnson contemplates on how to catch the person in front of him.

Sophomore Alan Pearson barely clears the hurdles because his attention is on the sandy track ahead of him at the finish line.

Junior Marvin Love wonders how long he'll be in the air before he lands, while he makes a remarkable long jump.

Michelle Finch, Kari Blakely, and Lisa Coutee keep telling themselves "right, left, right, left . . ." as they try not to trip over one another's feet.

"Okay, almost done. Just a few more miles, then I'll be done. Then I can sit down and relax," thinks Junior Zubair Jamal as he runs the track.

To Those Who Have Supported Us All Year Long . . .

CHEERLEADING

We all waited so anxiously for our names to be called at try-outs. When the names were finally announced for the 1992-93 Rally Squad, we all jumped with excitement. That is when it all began. The four days we spent in Chico were the best! We worked hard and accomplished a lot while we were there. We brought home superior ribbons in all we did and were the 1992 Camp Champs. We also had three All-Stars this year. I was proud to be a part of it all.

Working as a Varsity Squad and a J.V. Squad was different. It gave us the chance to experience both cheering and dancing. We also had the experience of working with three guy cheerleaders. The 1992-93 Rally Squad is one of the best squads I have been on. We have been through a lot together, and now it is over. I would like to thank all of the cheerleaders and song girls for making this year the best one ever. Keep up all the good work and spirit next year and every year. I will miss all of you!

The anticipation is over, you've made it. You have been chosen to represent your school as a WHS Songgirl. All of the hard work this summer paid off. During those few days at Chico State we managed to take home 27 Superior ribbons, Superior Trophy, Superior Drill Down Trophy, 3rd place in our Home routine, Spirit Stick, and many lasting friendships. We always worked hard under pressure. We prepared for the Great America Competition in two weeks, and we did our best. I can honestly say that this year we were united, and worked together as one squad. This year both Varsity squads combined together to work as one, as did the J.V. squads. you guys managed to display nothing but positive attitudes, and learned to accept criticism in a positive way. Being able to support our teams at WHS is one of the most important goals a member of the Rally Squad can achieve. Keeping school spirit alive is a tough job, and I feel we did our best. Thanks for all your hard work, and I wish everybody good luck. Thanks for all the memories! I LOVE YOU GUYS!!

Putting it all into motion

activities

Though school's main focus is education, the activities which diverge from that provide entertainment, lasting memories and friendships.

Spirit Week was fun-filled, and encouraged class unity. This period also emphasized school indivisibility and Husky pride. The dress-up days provided an outlet for creativity and a release from the pressures of learning.

After what seemed like an endless wait the gymnasium was finally ready for use. Within its vastness, the first of many Spirit Weeks was held.

Each class had the opportunity to perform a skit, which was to be judged upon and compared with that of the other classes.

Later in the week, Mr. Husky and the Homecoming Queen were chosen, and the victors of Spirit Week announced.

The Hello Dance welcomed, warmly, returning students, as well as new ones. This function acted as an icebreaker for the new school year.

Other dances which provided good times were Homecoming, the Winter Ball, Valentine's, and the Junior and Senior Proms.

Other activities which contributed to the enjoyment of school were on-campus organizations and lunchtime games.

Participating in clubs gave members the chance to become vital agents in the efforts to better their environment, either locally or globally. Within them, comradery and newfound friendships were built.

Lunchtime games acted as a subtle, but brief reminder that fun times could still be had, even among the loads of homework, dozens of tests and endless lectures.

All the school activities, whether it be attending dances or joining clubs or competing in lunchtime games, served as motivation to keep everything in motion.

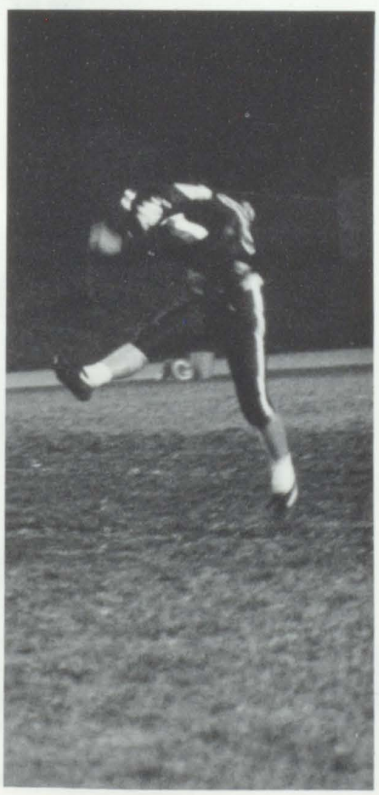
The crowd goes into a frenzy as the Huskies pull off another spectacular play for a touchdown.



It's a looooooong kickoff.

The team is serenaded by the cheer squad after their glorious triumph over the American Eagles.

Homecoming

CLASS OF 93

This years' homecoming nominees were chosen by the senior class on October 23 in their government and economics classes. The top ten vote getters for the homecoming queen, and the top ten for Mr. Husky were chosen to be the nominees. After all of the nominees were established, the whole student body got to vote. They voted in order to narrow the candidates down to five homecoming queen nominees and five Mr. Husky nominees. Next, the seniors voted again, but this time they were stuck with the toughest choice of all. They had to choose the two winners. The homecoming queen was announced at the homecoming game. A day later, Mr. Husky was announced at the homecoming dance.

Homecoming queen nominee Valeri Staehli is escorted by graduate, Mike Guerra.

Nominees

CLASS OF 93

Mr. Husky Nominees: James Giacomazzi, Harold Trias, Brian Gelfuso, Leon Yu, Stephen Putt, Jason Colon, Aaron Lozano, Jared Hattaway, Andy Stonas, and Andrew Harrill.

"Oh my gosh, look at all the people!" Says Michelle Faria to Mr. Husky nominee Jared Hattaway.

It's always a great honor to be selected a homecoming nominee. This year was no different than any other year in that choosing the nominees was extremely tough for the senior class. This is because all of the candidates were so evenly qualified. The criteria for choosing the nominees was not solely based on popularity. Selection is based on many factors, one of the most important being school involvement. This included serving in class offices, participating in athletics, clubs, spirit week, and achieving academic honors. Although there could only be two winners, all of the nominees were truly deserving, since they all achieved so much here at Washington.

Drew Harrill adjusts his glasses while Lisa Nieves smiles to the crowd.

Homecoming Queen

Amy Coutee

Amy has taken her Husky spirit above and beyond the call of duty for the last four years. She served as Class President during her freshman, sophomore, and senior year, as well as being Class Secretary as a junior. Amy was also a Yearbook Editor during her senior year. Amy's athletic involvement includes four years on both the Varsity Cross Country and Varsity Track and Field, as well as Varsity Soccer her sophomore year. Thank you, Amy, for all your hard work.

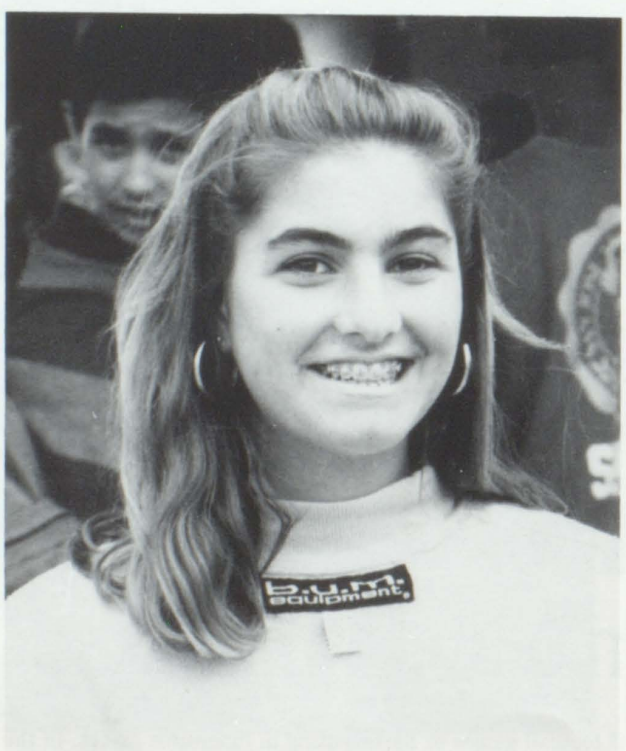
Leon Yu

For Leon, Husky spirit has never been a matter of just cheering at football games or participating in lunchtime games. In the last four years Leon has been actively involved in Washington. He served as ASB Vice President during his senior year. As a sophomore Leon was school D.J. Leon has also been active in athletics, playing Badminton as a freshman, and Tennis from his sophomore year until his senior year. In addition, Leon has been a member of CSF for four years, and a member of the Close-Up Club as a senior. Thank You, Leon, for all you have done.

Freshmen SPIRIT

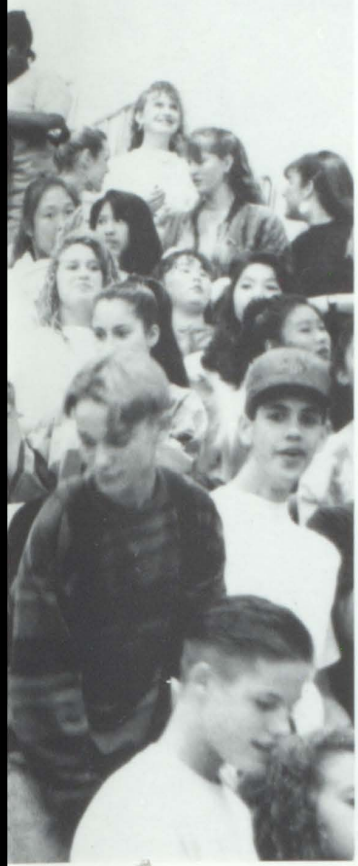
The Freshmen class joins together to show their spirit during Spirit Week.

Walking seductively towards the gym with a flirtatious look on his face, is Aaron Duchesne on opposite sex day.



Kim Papadopoulos proudly displays her spirit by wearing her clothes inside out on purpose on backwards day.

Tasha Ynzunza, Marley Wilkerson, Jaclyn Mullick, and Laura Becker are proof that the freshmen are not camera shy.



Nick Rogers, showing his spirit on Hat and Tie Day, is in awe of the skit taking place before him.

Kim Daigre and Tara Brandow take a second and smile for the camera admist the confusion caused by Spirit Week.

A few Freshmen sit timidly waiting for their skit to begin.

Nazar Ahmed shows his great amount of spirit during a skit on Opposite Sex Day.

"96 In The Mix"

Every year Washington greets new freshmen who are unexperienced in Spirit Week, and every year they compete with all they have.

This year was no different. The freshmen skit, "96 in the mix," was a dance contest between the various schools. The Huskies, of course, prevailed over their homecoming competitor, the American Eagles.

The freshmen showed their husky spirit on orange and black day; and their willingness to participate came out on backwards day when they wore their clothes backwards & inside out. Wednesday brought about opposite sex day, which is self explanatory, and on Friday we could see the freshmen wearing hats & ties.

Their great show of spirit earned them fourth place and proved to the rest of the school that the class of 96 isn't one to look over.

Sophomore SPIRIT

Our villain from American, Maryanne Marchetti, tries to stand up to our Husky heroes, Ryan Rodriguez and Jessica Palacios.

Tanya Carter is all wrapped up in the pride of being an American.

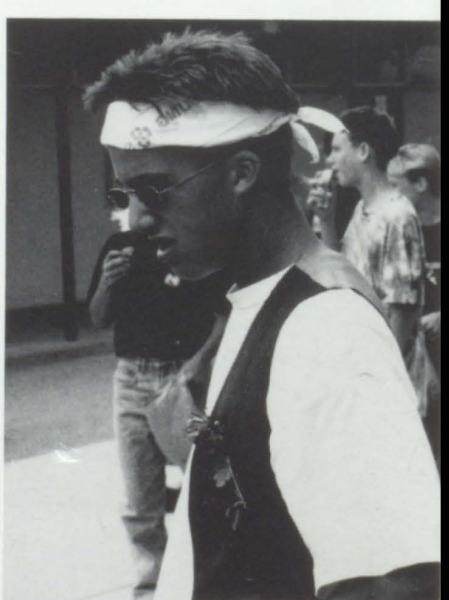
"HUSKY POWER" shout the Sophomores on a march on Hippie Day.

These tough Logan gangsters are really Huskies at heart.



"What are you supposed to be dressed as?" asks Ryan Alter on Hippie Day.

"I'm proud to be an American!" sings Jason Franchi.

Spaceship Washington ready for takeoff.

"Let's start a peace rally, man," says a peace making Jolie Gentry.

"Space Invaders"

As the years go by, the spirit of each class improves a little bit more. But with the class of '95 their spirit improved more than just a little.

In their skit, "Space Invaders," our Husky heroes traveled from planet to planet in search of our kidnapped mascot, Hank. It was a fight to the end and Washington was victorious.

Sophomore Spirit started off with Orange and Black Day. At the all school rally, Monday, they proved they could hold their own and that they have plenty of spirit to show off. Tuesday was Hippie Day. The sixties were alive again with bell bottoms, tie-dye, flower power, marches, and peace signs. The skit was performed on Wednesday. The wild, wild west was relived on Thursday, with Cowboy and Indian Day. Friday wrapped everything in red, white, and blue for Patriotic Day.

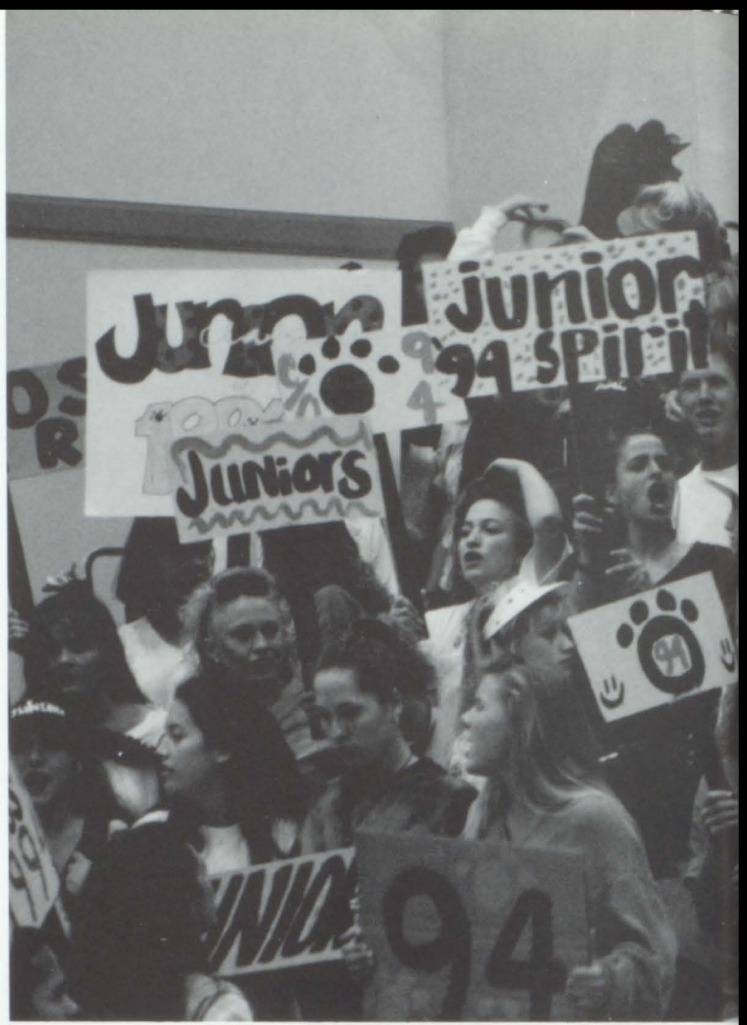
Junior SPIRIT

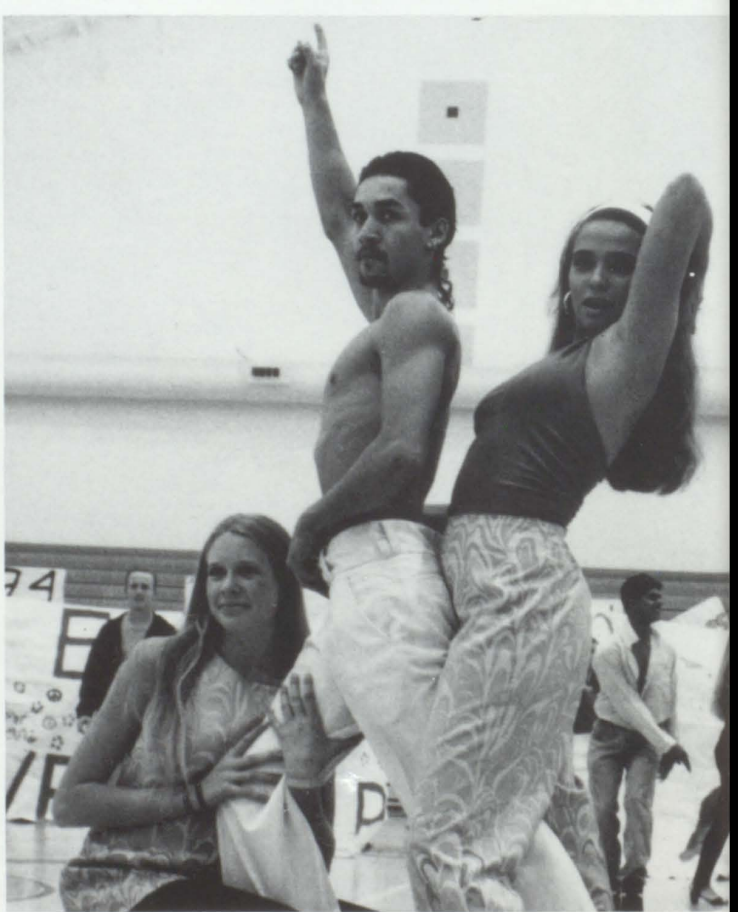
The Junior class shows their Husky Pride on Orange and Black Day. Their spirit won them second place in spirit week.

"See, Cliff, cameras really don't bite," explains Chris Olsen to an uncertain-looking Cliff Jerrolds.

What happened Mike, Claire and Brian? Had a bad day at school? Don't worry, guys, be happy like Claire. What's a minor head injury anyways?

Amy Antle, Carla Santos, Mercy Walcoff, and Lisa Braastad back up Madonna (A.K.A. Lauren Henderson) as she sings "Material Girl."





"Strike a pose, Vouge!" Oops, wrong decade. Erin Webb, Chris Sandoval, and G aldine Hartkamp strike their pose during their rendition of "Staying Alive."

Thomas Weber looking "Hecka Ugly" during the Junior's very original dress up day.

"All we are saying is give peace a chance!" chants Laura DeSousa on Phsycadelic Day.

"Wow, look how high the ceiling is! I wonder, if Garth throws me high enough, can I touch it?" ponders Becky Eggert as she falls head over heels for Garth Kimball.

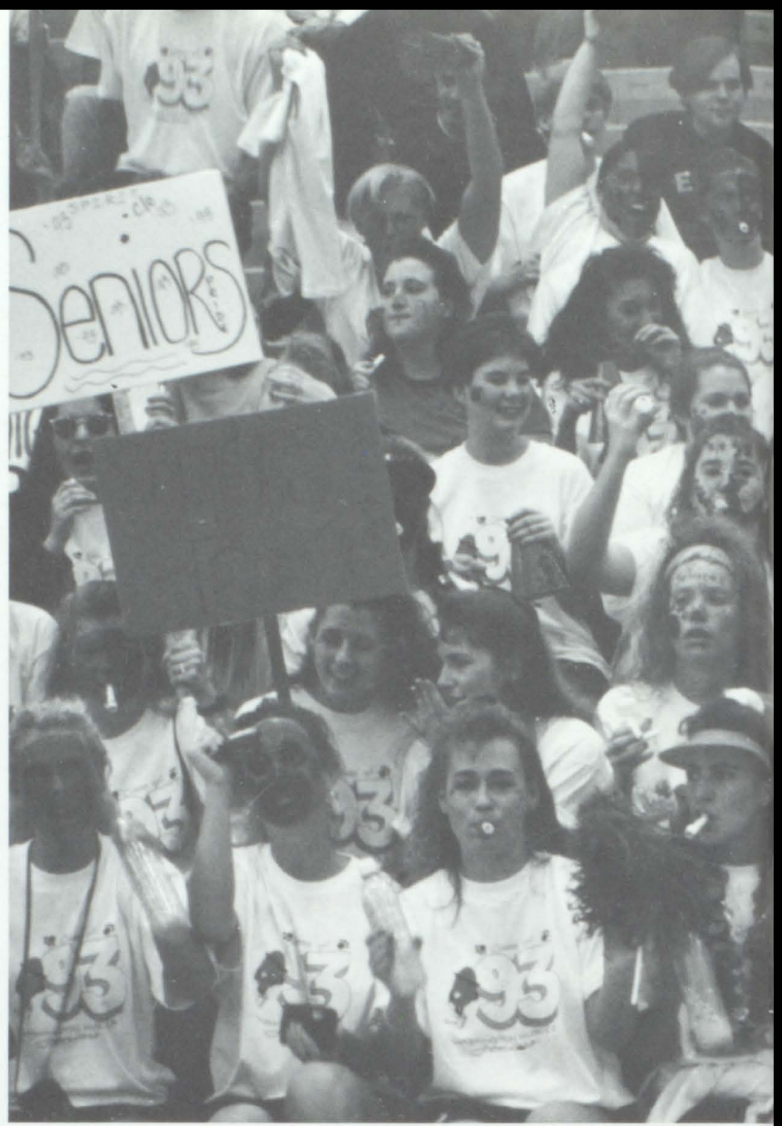
"The Curse"

True, some of us have seen a skit very similar to this, but this time the Class of 1994 added their own personal touch to it. The result was an entertaining blast through the past to rid ourselves of a wretched curse that made us lose every Homecoming Game on the second year of every decade. First we saw 1942 with wounded men and women returning from World War II. Then we witnessed a sock hop at Mel's Diner in the year 1952. In 1962, with Woodstock just around the corner, we saw hippies and flower children dancing around their bonfire and in 1972, with the disco rampage around the nation we watched some bold students, outfitted in bell bottoms, strut their stuff to "Staying Alive." 1982 brought with it Madonna doing "Material Girl" and finally 1992 was upon us with it's first Washington High School victory. Congratulations Juniors!

Senior SPIRIT

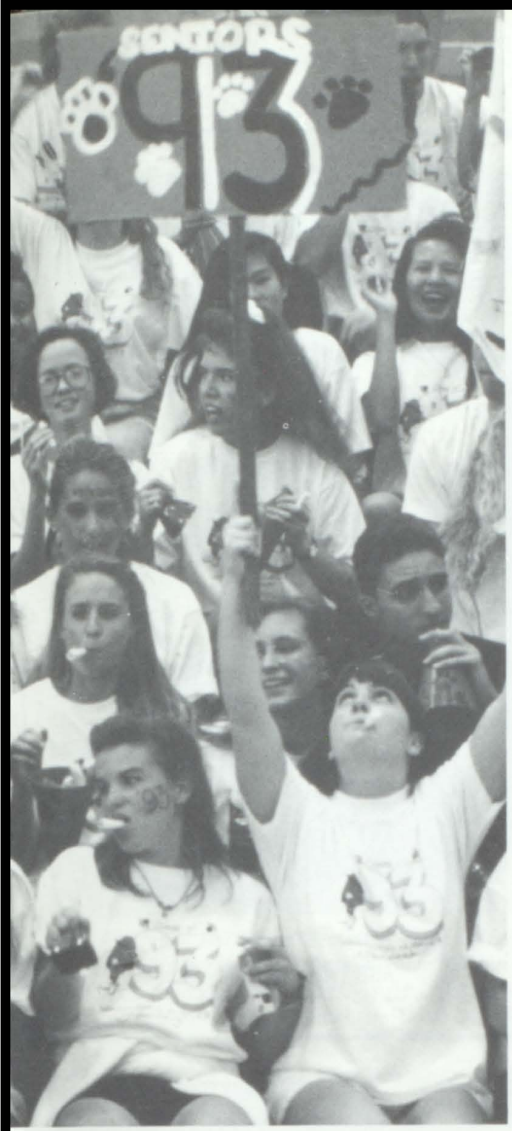
These seniors were ready to scream, at the beginning of a rally during spirit week.

Senior Aimee Little takes time out of her busy schedule to pose for this picture on "Nerd Day" during Spirit Week.



Senior Josh French walks rapidly to his nuclear-physics class, where he and his "nerd" buddies will attempt to invent a new type of physics.

A group of inspired huskies sing "We are the huskies" as the senior skit is coming to an end.



These seniors show their dedication to their class on "Mafia Day" which is one of the senior dress-up days during spirit week.

This clan of seniors are saying "We love our W.H.S." as they lift the work of art high above for all to marvel at.

ninety-3

"Senior T.V."

For the seniors it all started about six o'clock in the morning, getting the last minute details ready. going over the routines, and scene changes. Then it was showtime!

The Pepsi commercial starring Cindy Crawford started it off. Then the seniors flipped the channel to M.T.V. with Pauly Shore hosting the first annual Lip Sync contest. This is where Logan, Mission, American, and Washington strutted their stuff while "singing their favorite songs."

The opposing acts consisted of Logan doing their version of "Giving him something he can feel" by En Vogue, Mission's rendition of "I'm too sexy" by Right Said Fred, and American with "Smells like teen spirit" by Nirvana.

Last but by no means least, Washington High with their version of "We are the Huskies." As usual the Huskies won with a bang!

HUSKY GOVERNMENT STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Council consists of A.S.B., Rep Assembly, and Appointed Officers. Each of them has certain responsibilities. A.S.B. (Associated Student Body) has four officers, which make up the governing body of the student council. The Rep Assembly is made up of members elected from each third period class. They inform their classes of upcoming events pertaining to the students. The Appointed Officers are selected by the four A.S.B. officers and the class presidents via an application and an interview process. Each hold a unique position with specific duties. These three student bodies along with the class officers make up the student council.

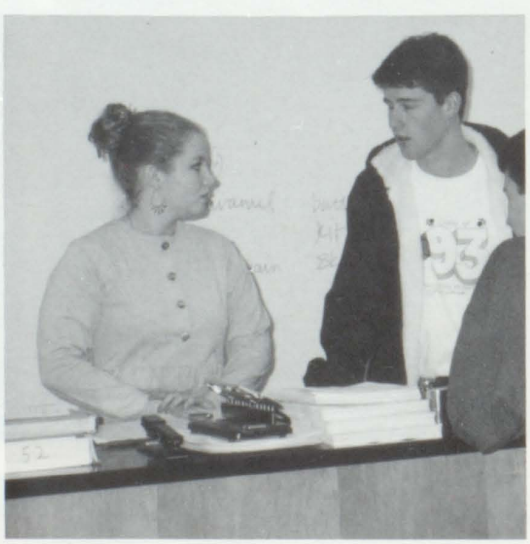
Academic Society

Chris Nockleberg, Brian Provenzale, Avani Patel, Andy Stonas, Jenny Meeds, Roselle Ponsaran.

Once again the Academic Society has fulfilled another year of wonderful Brain Bowl competition with much preparation. Academic Society members mainly spent their time studying and reviewing facts in order to do well in the Brain Bowl competitions that take place every year. Competition within our own school was fierce and exciting. An All-Star team was then chosen to compete against other schools state wide.

"I just know my brain's around here somewhere!" exclaims senior Avani Patel.

Academic Society advisor, Mr. Miller, pauses before expressing an inspirational thought.



The junior class brain bowl studs of America compare their extraneous knowledge to trivia; just another day in the lives of the great ones.

"I'm positive that we can win the Brain Bowl this year. Sure the other teams are smart but not that smart." says Jenny Meeds to Andy Stonas.

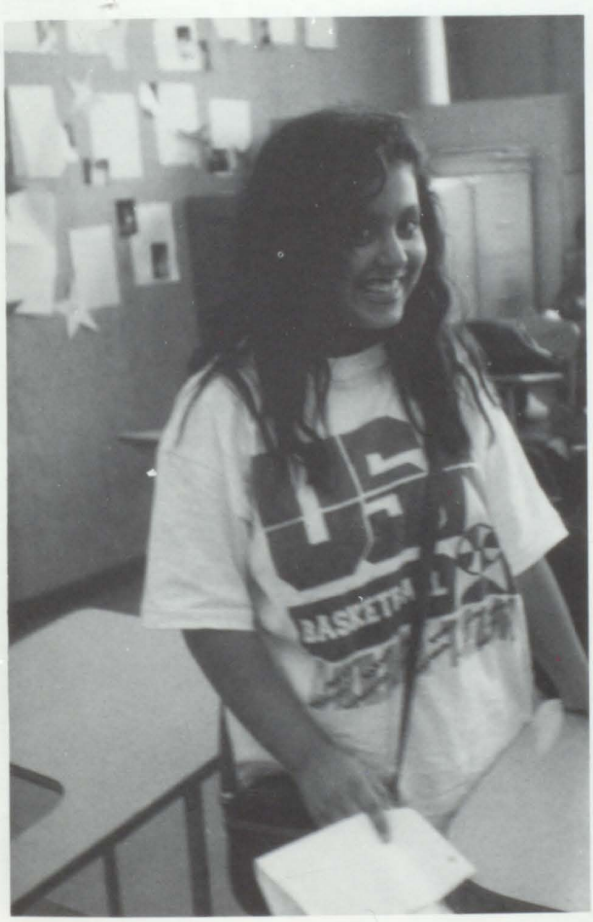
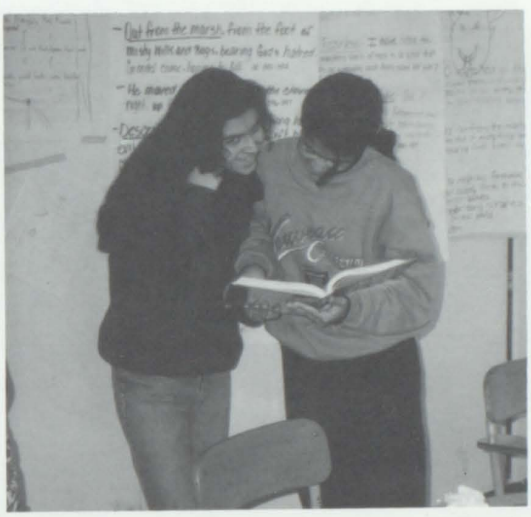
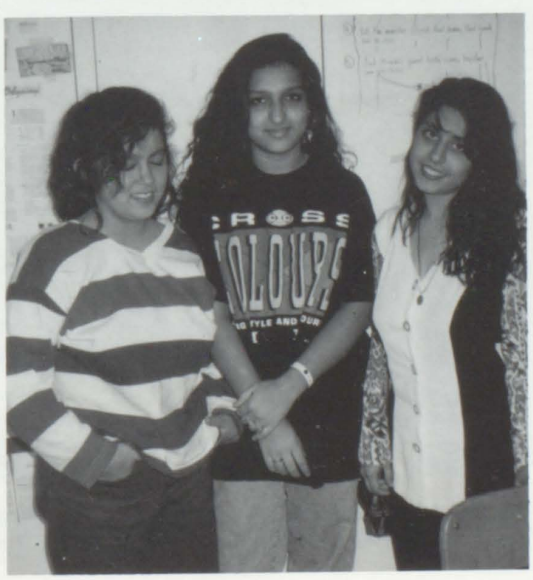
The Afghan Club is a club that studies other cultures for fun along with their own. Every year they put on a show of Afghan Culture to give people a chance to learn about the Afghan Culture. This year they had a picnic for all of their members, and a brief Afghan Culture Show for the teachers at lunch. Also this year they visited San Francisco to see a variety of cultural exhibits. They had a super year of cultural stimulation!



Maryem Sarwari says, "Don't you want to be in this culturally stimulating club too? I know everyone does."

Nilofer Rahimi says to Homira Ehsan Ghes, "Wow, what interesting info about culture, don't you think?!"





Mrs. Bentley with her trusty bell knows how to keep this club under control. What an advisor!

Maryem Sarwari, Ritika Rajasanhsi, and Zohra Sarwari pose for a picture, and don't they look adorable? Awwww how cute!

Amnesty

The Amnesty International club is a group of concerned students that decided to take action. They write letters to the government of other countries urging them to release any political prisoners there. "But what can a few letters do?" you might ask, quite a lot. Amnesty International is a world wide organization. When governments receive thousands of letters from concerned people it creates quite a force. Amnesty holds concerts to raise money for their cause. Artists such as Sting, Tracy Chapman, and R.E.M. have performed for them.

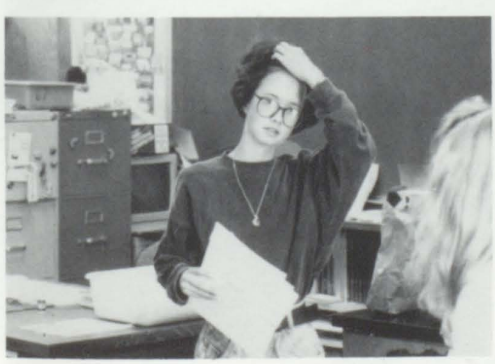
The California Scholarship Federation, or C. S. F., consists of many diligent students. To become a member, participants must have a certain grade point average for the previous semester. The club collects a $2 membership fee which goes towards scholarship money awarded to active seniors at the end of the year. This year, C. S. F. members have volunteered to dedicate their time as valuable tutors. Students also get to experience such places as the Exploratorium when they go on field trips. Students receive a fun, learning experience.



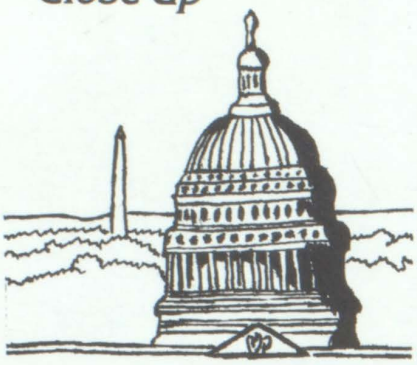
C. S. F. members are being rewarded with ice cream for all their hard work and dedication.

AAAHHHH!!!! Stress begins to affect Danielle Dowling as she tries to organize minutes for the meeting.

"GRRRR!!!! Haven't you ever seen anyone eat their lunch?" Greg Walsh asks as he waits for the meeting to start.

"C. S. F. is a great club! Everyone should strive to become a member!" Shalini Patel says proudly.

Close-Up



This year 30 students flew to Washington D.C. for a week. The first few days consisted of workshops and seminars. They spent a day at the Capitol where some even saw Bill Clinton and spent two days in colonial Williamsburg, Virginia. After a bus ride home and a good night's rest, hundreds of kids were set loose to explore the Smithsonian, Georgetown and the district in the falling snow. Though exhausted they returned to the hotel to enjoy the farewell dance where some learned to Meringue from their Puerto Rican roommates.

Deca is a merchandising and marketing club at Washington. Deca helps to prepare students for careers in the future. The members may talk about various subjects such as advertising, communications, and management. Deca helps students learn leadership characteristics, self-confidence, and provides them with an understanding of the competitive enterprise system. Deca members also have competitions with other schools in such categories as advertising and display, general marketing, and apparel and accessories. Deca was the first step towards a successful future.

DEBATE CLUB

Do you feel like there is too much sexism in commercials? What should we do to protect the endangered wildlife? These issues are the core of controversy throughout the nation, as well as our own Washington High School. In debate club, students are given the opportunity to express their opinions on various issues. Debate allows students to listen to both sides of the argument and broaden their view of life. Debate is a worthwhile club to participate in. Debate was a great club for those who enjoy challenging issues.

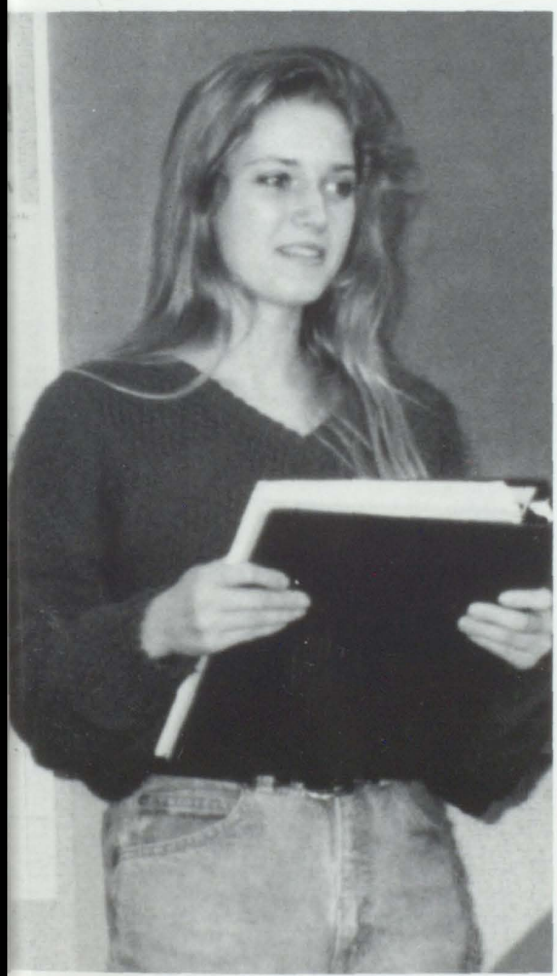
Junior Statesman of America, or more commonly called J.S.A., is a nation wide organization for high school students interested in the political world. They participate in conferences and workshops involving activities planning, cabinet organization, and political involvement. The highlight of this year was the State Convention held in Santa Clara at the end of November. There they were able to attend controversial debates, participate in speeches, and elect new officials to their own student run government.



President Zipporah Ross is ready to start the meeting as she gets the club organized.

"Here let me show you what Danyelle Miller is talking about," says Andrea Hitt.

Lani Minor smiles as she dreams of being a future senator.

Tired of the American scene? Check out the French and Spanish Clubs, and discover two cultures rich in European tradition. The French Club brings France to Washington by sampling fine French foods, exploring French cinema, or viewing French art.

But if the French don't have the je ne sais quoi you seek, try the Spanish Club, mi amigo, where you may find yourself snapping to a flamenco beat, tasting a spicy Spanish dish, or exploring Tiajuana, Mexico, on a Cinco de Mayo field trip. So although you don't need to speak the languages to join, you do need a desire to learn and have fun!

These Spanish Club members are having a muy divertida meeting.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Have you ever wondered what life is like in another country? If so, the International club is the place for you. This organization helps interested students learn and understand the different cultures of other countries. This year's club was fairly small due to lack of promotion. Mrs. Linnell was the club's advisor and encourages all students who will be here at Washington next year to come and visit an international club meeting.

Shelia Cangco, the club president, seems to be impatient waiting for the meeting to begin.

As some of the members of the International club wait for Mrs. Linnell to arrive, they enjoy a school lunch.

Resting on a curb is senior Winnie Lam, who seems to be saying, "I have a headache this big and I need some Excedrin!"

Discussing what they will do during the upcoming meeting with a friend is International member, Tarana Bhatnagar.

Senior Nina Tang is wondering what the topic of the meet will be.

Peer Counseling is a club aimed at helping others through their problems. To become a Peer Counselor, we must complete a certain amount of training sessions. These students have the responsibility of being representatives of Washington and its image. They participate in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education or D.A.R.E. program. For this members help students learn to "Say No!" Peer Counseling is also the Welcoming Committee. Students coming from Junior High, may sign up to be a little Brother/Sister. Peer Counselors help, and enjoy doing it.

Ski Club

The Washington High School Ski Club almost didn't exist this year. But, thanks to Mr. Gelfuso and some ambitious students the Ski Club was back in full swing. There were three major trips planned for the Ski Club this year. Over Christmas break they were up at Bear Valley. Later, they went up to Tahoe to ski the runs of Heavenly. Another trip was planned for February to go skiing at Boreal. The Ski Club wasn't filled with professional skiers. Just students that had an interest in the sport.

Ski Club members sit and talk, or eat their lunch, before the meeting begins.

Secretary Jaime Hunt and Treasurer Jill Rennels are late for their Ski Club meeting, but they still have enough time to stop and pose for the camera.

Just because you are in the Ski Club doesn't mean that you are a great skier. This point is demonstrated by one of the less professional members of the club.

Tragos Comos

"To be or not to be, that is the question." This famous line from Shakespeare's play Hamlet is one you could've read if you were a member of Tragos Comos. Translated from Latin, Tragos Comos means "Tragedy Comedy." This group reads the works of Shakespeare and other famous playwrights. This club is a group that will give those who wish to aspire to an acting career a chance to get started. They go to see different plays, tour backstage, and sponsor plays performed here at school. Several of the Tragos Comos members have also been participating in Washington High drama productions.

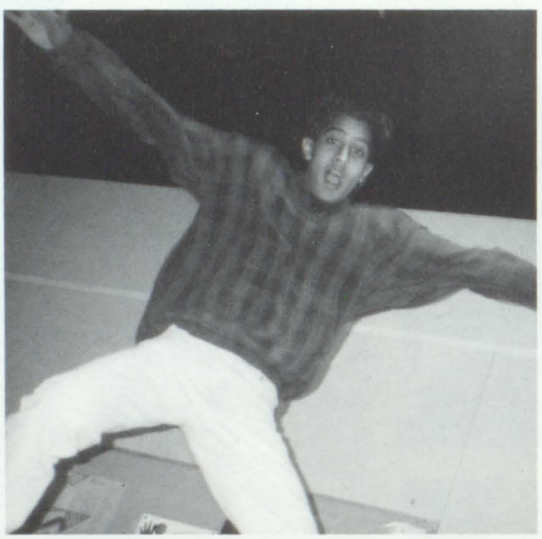
"Look, I can fly!" shouts Neil Chudgar as he tries hard to imitate Peter Pan.

"Acting is serious business, for serious people," exclaims Erin Foret.



"All for art," thinks sophomore Brian Benevides as he waits offstage in a dress for his cue.

"Santa Claus is coming to town," states Duane White as he practices his role.

"This is only temporary," insists a reluctant Kevin Miller as he rushes on stage.

"To be or not to be . . . no that's not my line," thinks Brian Benevides as he tries to recall his line.

Youth Alive

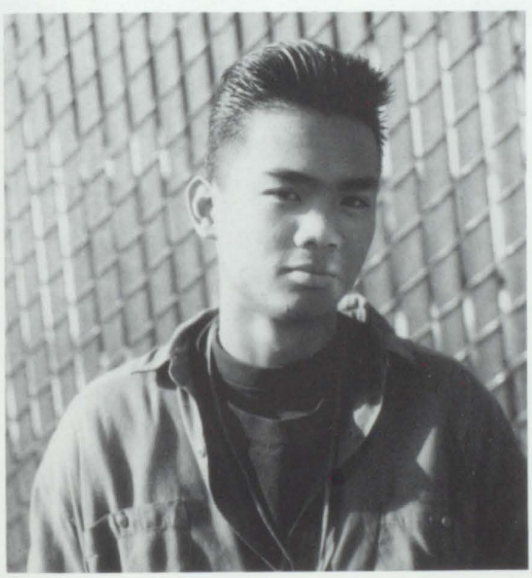
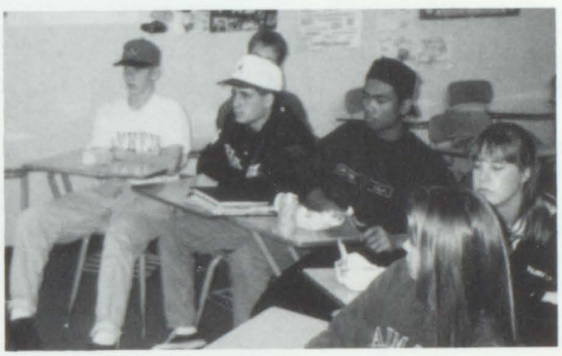
Youth Alive is an organization dedicated to the preservation of the Christian faith in the school. "Our purpose is to provide a place where people feel comfortable in talking about their faith and beliefs," says President Jeremy Littau. The club tried to spread their faith throughout Washington High by inviting students who were interested to attend the meetings, to learn what the club is all about. This club is open to anyone who wants to join or for anyone who simply needs someone to talk to. Youth Alive is an inspiration for those who need spiritual encouragement.

Victor Pons shows his faith by wearing a cross around his neck.

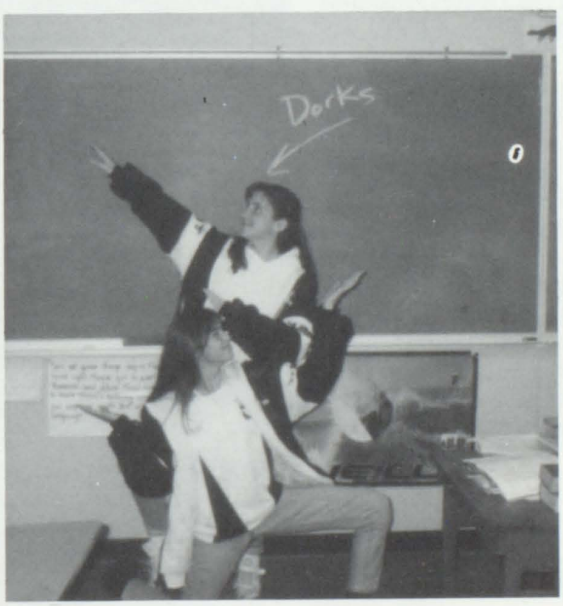




Scott Gemeiner and friends listen carefully as someone shares their thoughts.

"This sure beats eating a school lunch alone" thinks Ron Suggs.

"Now this is how we're going to do it," exclaims President Jeremy Littau.



"Strike a pose, there is nothing to it," say Genis Haynie and Beth Gammon.

Troy Searcy listens with awe as the minutes from the last meeting are read.

Putting it all into perspective

academics

Education is the focal point of high school. With Washington High School's proud academic tradition, confidence is instilled into the students as they courageously begin to face their future, with hope and determination.

Tomorrow begins to take shape as they strive to take hold of their dreams. In so doing, they became the promise of the future.

In preparation for the real world, a firm foundation was built, atop it, the towering attributes cultivated by hard work and perseverance.

Besides the basic courses of English, Science, history, and math, one's education is supplemented by enlightening electives; such as choir, photography, foreign languages and art. They provide an outlet for creativity and special interests. All the electives made available maintained a level of excellency which aids in the decision of entering a career later in life.

As the time left at Washington begins to lessen, the sight of college or a job becomes a close reality. The pressures of the SAT's, ACT's and Achievement test increase almost unexpectedly.

Unfortunately, the absence of school counselors due to budget cuts proved to be a great loss and its impact was greatly felt.

When it was thought that all was lost, the assistant principals came to the rescue and as best they could, assumed the duties of counselors and then some.

Education consists more than that of knowledge derived from books. It can also be found in the dailiness of life and from those around you. Our dedicated faculty has strived to give Washington students all they know and can to prepare them for their journey into the future.

The most important lessons learned are that of being able to think for one's self, to be self-reliant and to always be a student of life.

Administration/Clerical

Some of the unseen jobs are of greatest importance at WHS. Without our great administration, clerical, and janitorial staff WHS wouldn't keep running. Everyone has bigger work loads including the janitorial staff who have had more work on their hands. With all the yard work that they put in to make WHS great, they deserve a standing ovation from the students.

A well known sight, Mrs. Dee Vis helping out a Washington High School student. Here she is away from her usual habitat, the student center, which is located in the main office, and helping to fill out new ID cards at orientation.

"Well to get to the heart of the matter, your options seem to be . . ." says Assistant Principal David Bray, as he tries to explain to a befuddled student his options in a requested class change. Mr. Bray handles schedules and the other usual A.P. duties.

English

English. We all have to go through this class all four years of high school, so instead of the teachers making life even more difficult, they make the class somewhat enjoyable by letting the students write essays on subjects that we are interested in, reading books that we won't find boring and other things that spark our interests.

Students take class time to get yesterday's homework done instead of listening to their teacher.

Math

Parabolas, logarithms, explicit differentiations, and obtuse triangles are some of the many terms used in math classes. Math isn't the most liked subject in school, but it is something that you learn from. Math builds stamina and logic in our lives, and though we may not want to admit it, math has something to do with just about everything in today's world. Math can also be a lot of fun, so get out those calculators and pencils, you just might learn something.

Konrad Pi, David Mahboobi, Emily Hoem, Brent Peterson, Ahmad Mowbakht, Palavi Naidu, and Tana Pratt listen to Mrs. Robison's lecture stimulating their minds and increasing their knowledge in Pre-Calculus.

Science

There are a numerous collection of sciences, such as chemistry, physiology, and physics. These sciences utilize methods and techniques in logic, analysis, mathematics, observation and reasoning. Whether it's studying the periodic table for the atomic weight of Magnesium or testing the temperature at which water boils in an experiment, the students in science class always had fun!

Seniors Jeremy Montoya and Sean Lucas perform their physics lab with perfection and exactness, because they know that their grades are heavily based on the labs that they do in class almost daily.

Physical Education

Some people may think of P.E. as a kick back class, but it really isn't. Folkdancing is one class offered. It may look easy, but it's harder than it looks. Try to memorize all the different steps and not fall. Handball, basketball, aerobics, and other such activities are also offered. The next time you think about P.E., don't just think of it as a kick back class, think of it as an experience.

As you can see, Cari Sherman is delighted to be learning folk-dancing from Ms. Dean.

Social Science

Who was our first president? Where are the Fiji islands? These questions and many more can be answered in your social science classes. Sophomore year you are required to take World History. During your junior year you get to learn about how are country was built, in U.S. History. Finally in your senior year you must take one semester of economics, and one semester of government.

Business

A student interested in learning to type may sign up for keyboarding. In addition to this basic class Washington's Business Department also offers accounting, computer application and shorthand for first year students. Students may also choose to sign up for more advanced classes in computers and accounting. For students who want to explore the business field even further an ROP class, Merchandise/Marketing taught by Ms. Stuart is also available.

Special Education

Students in Washington's special education classes receive the services of the Resource Specialist and Special Day Class program. Eligibility is determined by the Individualized Education Program or by request from the students' teacher. W.H.S. offers special classes in areas such as math and English. These classes improve basic skills and build confidence in core subject areas.

Health

Every student is required to take a health class, usually during his or her freshman year. Health is a very important class in which students learn a great amount. In class, students learn about personal health, drugs, first aid and prevention, family living, and diseases. Health also teaches students to cope with their mental and emotional health, which is important in the teenage years.

Home Economics

Home economics is a very beneficial and widely chosen elective at Washington. In this course, students learn a variety of skills. However, the best part about home economics is probably learning to cook simple meals and consuming them afterwards. Home economics has helped students by providing them with the knowledge to care for their own home and family in the future.

Photography

Despite the trek out to room 201, photo is a very fascinating subject to pursue. You get to learn everything from how to develop film to how to get magazine ink to stick to contact paper. It may sound trivial, but pictures can make or break a newspaper, magazine or even a family vacation. So, if someone wants to take a picture of you, smile. Their grade may depend on you.

Brooke Stull concentrates hard on her newly developed prints despite the backpacks that are attacking her from all sides.

Genis Haynie is the only one able to listen to an enlightening lecture as Jennifer Leonhardt laughs at something and Sarah Brennis smiles for the camera.

Art

Art is only for those who are artistic, right? Wrong! Art classes are for those who enjoy art and want to improve their skill. Sure, it may help if you are artistically inclined, but definitely not required. Throughout the year students try their hand at sketching, painting and ceramics. In between, they meet new friends and create some great works of art to be proud of.

Band

Band is an elective class for all those students having or wanting musical abilities. No prior musical experience is required, all that is needed is a yearning to play. Mr. Mitchell led the band through the 1992-1993 school year. Band showed up to football games to provide entertainment. By enjoying just one of their concerts, you can tell that WHS is bursting with musical ability!

Industrial Arts

Wood shop, metal shop, drafting, home maintenance, and auto shop. All these subjects make up the Industrial Arts department here at Washington.

In auto you learn about cars and learn to weld, while in drafting you learn about the construction of skyscrapers. Because of their usefulness we should all take one of these classes.

Foreign Language

Hola! Bonjour! Guten Tag! Hello from all of the foreign language classes here at Washington. There are three languages offered to W.H.S. students. These languages are Spanish, French, and German. With these choices there is bound to be a language that will interest you. In these classes you not only learn foreign languages, but you also learn about foreign cultures.

Drama

Out on the far side of WHS, Romeo and Juliet, romance, knights joust, and New Yorkers blow up a house. In the drama room, stage-struck students overcome stage-fright to perform skits, monologues, and improvisations. Aspiring actors go one step further by participating in after school productions.

Here we catch Drama 1 students trying to show their fellow thespians how well they can act!

Fahad Habib, playing the live-and-let-live patriarch Grandpa Vanderhof, had the audience rolling in the aisles.

What stage presence! Anthony Manha takes to the stage and proves acting is easier than it looks.

A soliloquy? Five minutes long? From Shakespeare? And I have to do it all by myself? Drama 1 students are panicked and ready to flee, showing no actor can ever be completely cured of stage fright.

Mrs. Olson takes the time to explain to her students how important it is to feel out the part.

The cast and crew of "You Can't Take It With You" spent weeks painting scenery, choosing costumes, and learning lines to bring the happy-go-lucky Vanderhof clan to life in four funny performances.

Is Neil Chudgar pondering the mysteries of the universe, or just trying to remember his next line?

Putting the spirit into it

huskies

Students may come and students may go, but in their hearts they'll always be Huskies. Just ask the students who made this year one of special memories and friendships. Freshmen came to school full of doubts and uncertainties and left with the energy and enthusiasm that marked their first year of high school. They pulled together for a memorable first Spirit Week, proving you don't need experience to have the Husky spirit, a theme they carried out the whole year, through active participation in sports, clubs, and activities.

Sophomores returned to Washington to continue the Husky tradition, looking forward to bigger and better things. The usual goal, of course, was the acquisition of the liberating drivers license, the ticket to cruise the streets, to go where you want when you want, and avoid being seen on the school bus. But even this rite of passage, ever paramount as the sixteenth birthday draws near, didn't keep the energetic sophomores from turning out a great Spirit Week. It didn't surprise anyone, Washington just wouldn't be the same without the sophomore Huskies contributing their spirit.

Upperclassmen at last, juniors had big plans for the year. Their ambition was shown by a spectacular Spirit Week. But life wasn't all fun and games, the junior year saw the start of college stress. SATs suddenly had students discussing the implications of four consecutive B answers and lugging around fat study guides in last minute cramming. Still, even that couldn't keep juniors from looking forward to the Junior Prom, the night of dreams, dresses, and dancing 'til dawn.

Seniors, trudging back to school with the vow to take it for just one more year, soon showed no shortage of enthusiasm to pour into their last year of high school. Spirit Week showed them off to their full potential, but the fun continued throughout the year. Senior Picnic was a chance for fun in the sun. Senior Breakfast and Senior Fling helped ease the long stretch until June, when graduation day finally arrived. It was a bittersweet day to leave their high school career behind forever, but afterwards Grad Night became a celebration of these last four years, these old friends, and these special memories, like that last dance at the Senior Ball. They were things never to be forgotten.

On the first day of school it was overwhelming to finally be in high school. For many of us, it was our first trip into the new gym. The tremendous spirit, which the school possessed, awed our class into silence. As Homecoming and Spirit Week neared, the spirit pulled us in, never to let go. With the little time we had, we performed a dynamic skit that even the upper classmen were proud of.

As the year moved on, we had new and exciting experiences; our first Winter Ball, football games, and much, much more. We also got our first experience of an open campus. For many of us, we spent our lunches at McDonald's and at the Hub.

Throughout the next three years, we hope that our lives will change through the trials and tribulations of high school life. Washington is our home away from home, and the Husky is our symbol of pride. The class of 1996 will show their spirit everyday through our participation in all of WHS's events.

Industrial Arts

Wood shop, metal shop, drafting, home maintenance, and auto shop. All these subjects make up the Industrial Arts department here at Washington.

In auto you learn about cars and learn to weld, while in drafting you learn about the construction of skyscrapers. Because of their usefulness we should all take one of these classes.

With the help of a friend, Dexter Lat rotates his tires in auto shop.

Chris Martinez sands wood for the bird house he's going to make.

Jason Canning tinkers with the engine of his "new" old car.

Robert Jensen and Griselda Cervantes put the finishing touches on their house for Clifford, the Big Red Dog.

"We get to learn how to build metal boxes."
-Ben Reyes

"Wood shop is a fun class where you get to make a lot of neat wood projects."

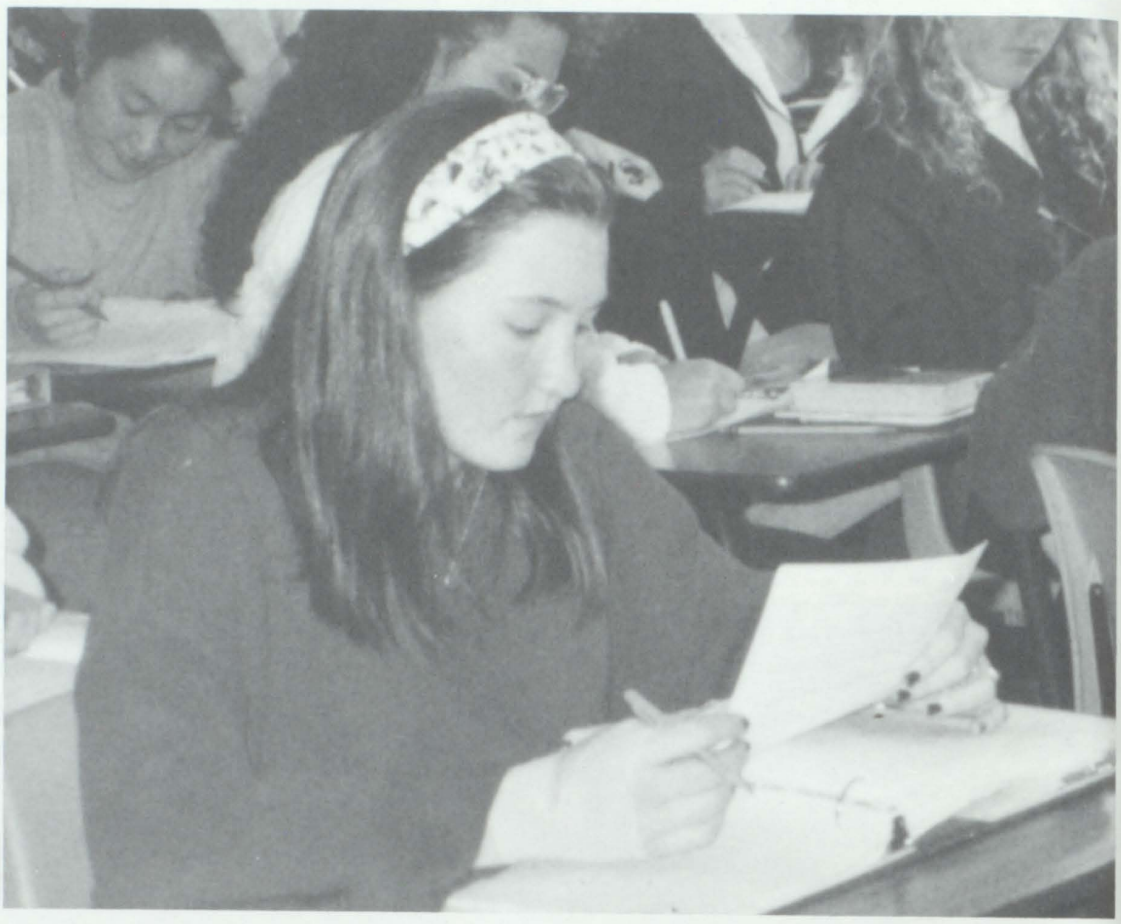
"When you get done with it, this baby will go from 0-60 in 2 minutes flat!" promise Joey Espino, Kenny Morris, and Brandon Burchfield.

"Back in the summer of '55 when this baby was brand new . . ." Todd Arias tells us stories about the good ol' days.

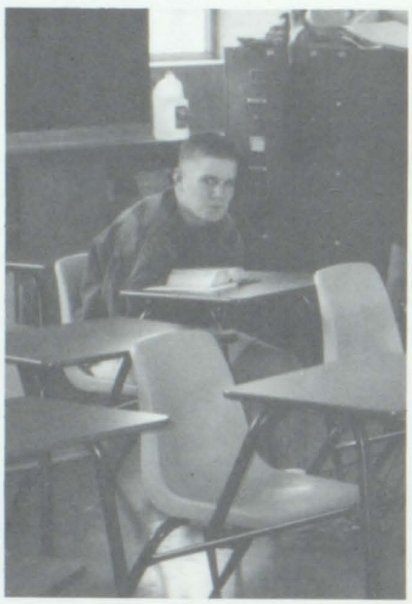
Foreign Language

Hola! Bonjour! Guten Tag! Hello from all of the foreign language classes here at Washington. There are three languages offered to W.H.S. students. These languages are Spanish, French, and German. With these choices there is bound to be a language that will interest you. In these classes you not only learn foreign languages, but you also learn about foreign cultures.

Junior Elizabeth Peterson, a usually hyper-active student, settles down for just a few minutes and carefully examines her extensive French vocabulary notes in order to prepare for the difficult upcoming examination.



Brandon Sill wakes up from his nap to discover that everyone has left the room.



"German is a very intriguing and stimulating language."

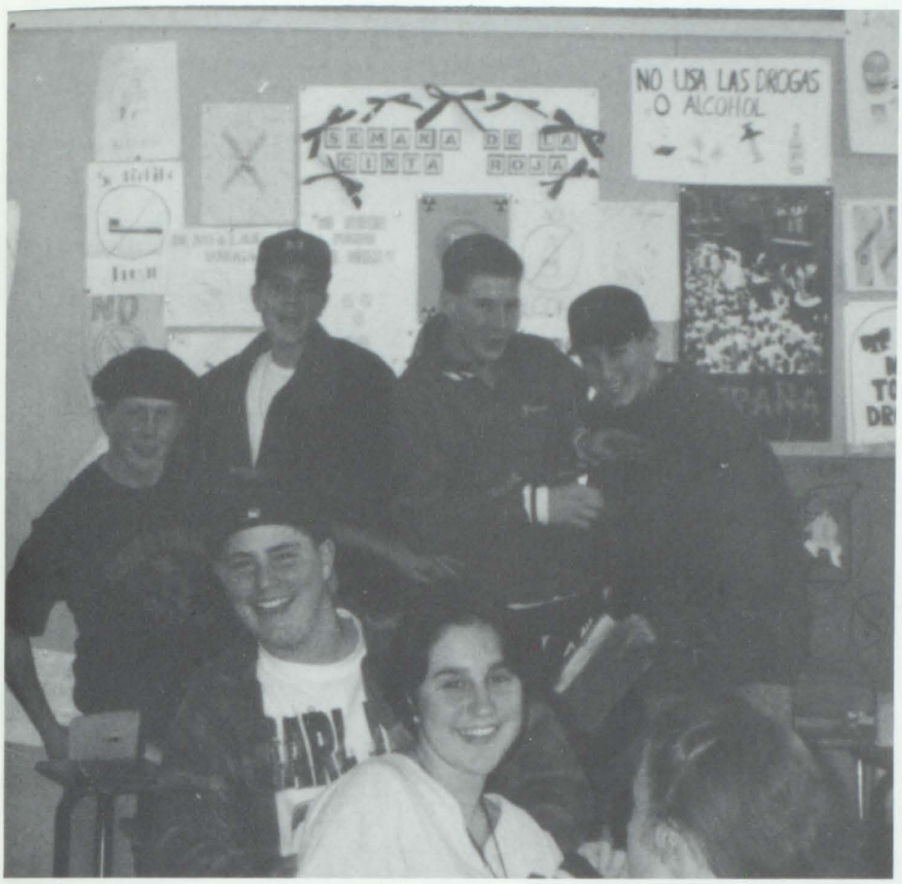
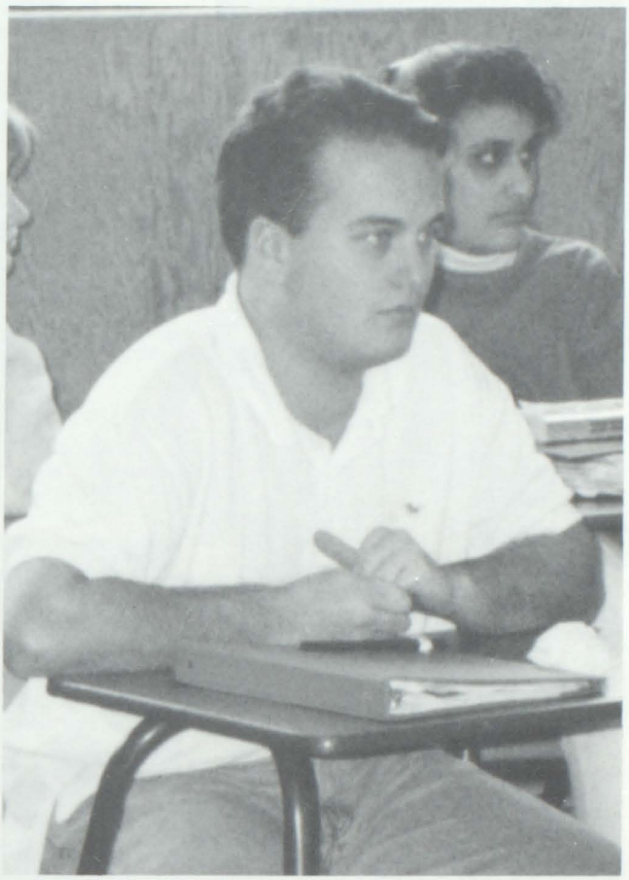
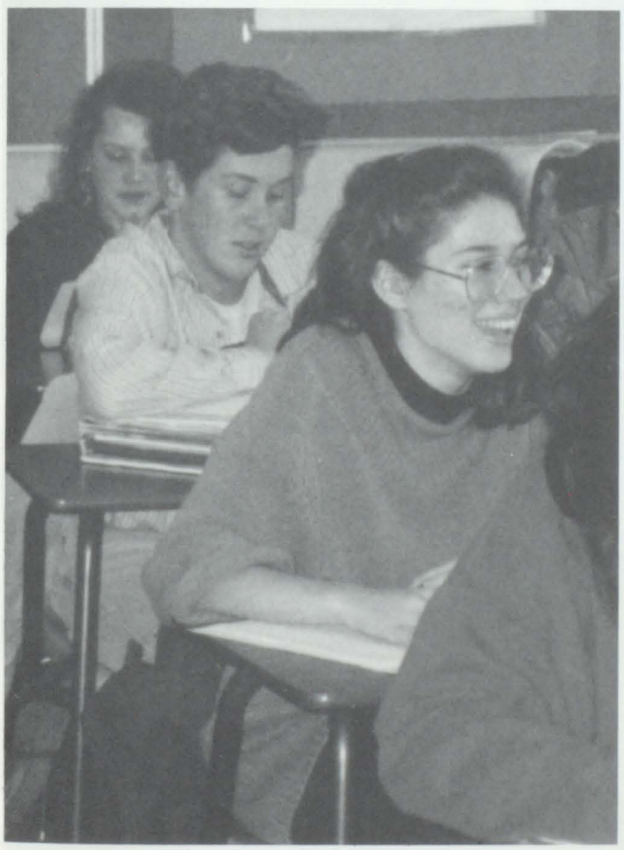
This group of dedicated students is working extremely hard on improving their Spanish speaking skills and on improving their abilities to work in a group.



Junior Faisal Nsour drifts off into another world as he daydreams about past participles and sauerkraut in his German class.





Junior Niki Stojnic rejoices after correctly answering the question, while Junior Chris Olson diligently studies his Spanish vocabulary.

Drama

Out on the far side of WHS, Romeo and Juliet, romance, knights joust, and New Yorkers blow up a house. In the drama room, stage-struck students overcome stage-fright to perform skits, monologues, and improvisations. Aspiring actors go one step further by participating in after school productions.

Here we catch Drama 1 students trying to show their fellow thespians how well they can act!

Fahad Habib, playing the live-and-let-live patriarch Grandpa Vanderhof, had the audience rolling in the aisles.

What stage presence! Anthony Manha takes to the stage and proves acting is easier than it looks.

A soliloquy? Five minutes long? From Shakespeare? And I have to do it all by myself? Drama 1 students are panicked and ready to flee, showing no actor can ever be completely cured of stage fright.

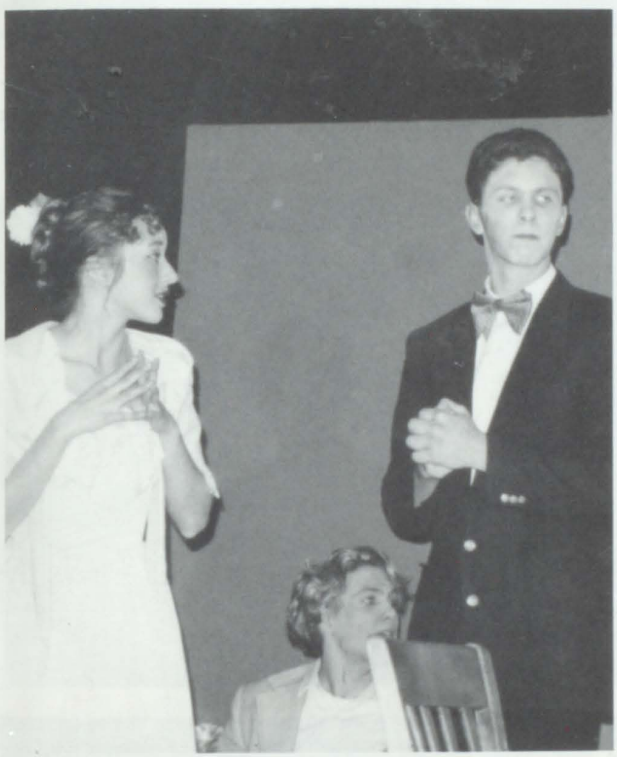
Mrs. Olson takes the time to explain to her students how important it is to feel out the part.

The cast and crew of "You Can't Take It With You" spent weeks painting scenery, choosing costumes, and learning lines to bring the happy-go-lucky Vanderhof clan to life in four funny performances.

Is Neil Chudgar pondering the mysteries of the universe, or just trying to remember his next line?

Sean Howarth displays his amazing ability to remember lines and smoke a pipe at the same time.

Maricela Cervantes hopefully awaits a loving look from her on-stage love interest Brian Whaley as he tries to remember his cue.



Another hilarious act in the play "You Can't Take It With You," full of Vanderhof fun, involves ballet, explosives, and the IRS.

Journalism

Countless hours were invested in the production of "The Hatchet," which was delivered into the eager hands of the students at the end of every other week.

Perfectionists at their craft, the Hatchet staff maintained a high level of excellence, making each edition better than the one before.

Journalism editors; Ethan Wimert, Willy Mene, Avani Patel, Cathi Fletcher and Business Manager, Jenny Meeds.

Mrs. Wilson spews forth information as Pennie Goyert hurriedly jots down notes.

Photographers Jason Lowe and James Farag are found posing for the camera.

Tammy Hess and Jenny Meeds make their job look easy as they gather ads to fund the fifteen editions of "The Hatchet".

During one of the many paste-ups Ethan Wimert corrects his page on the light table.

Giving her full attention to the computer, Karen Rockafellow types like a madwoman!

Yearbook

The "Washingtonian" was created with the dedication and outstanding effort of the editors and their staff.

Though times were sometimes difficult, all managed to pull through with even more determination than before.

We hope this '92-'93 "Washingtonian" breathes life back into past joyous moments. May you enjoy it as much as we did bringing it to you.

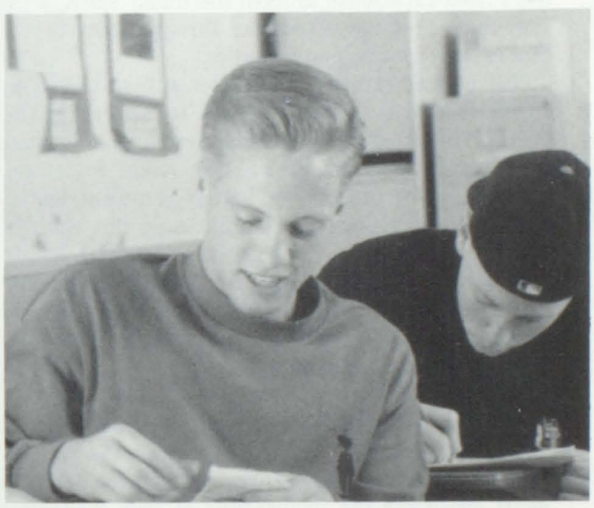
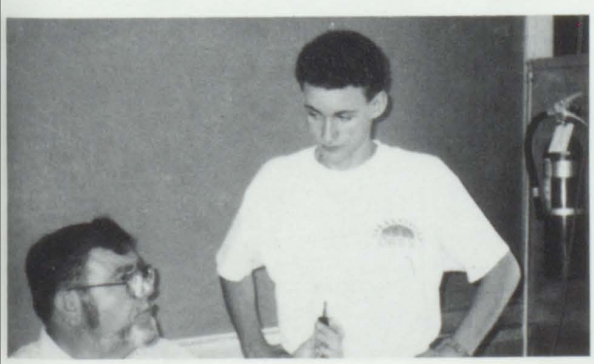
Editors Amy Coutee and Cathi Fletcher

Brooke Stull uses her expertise in deciding which picture to use.

Mat Bradley gets a helping hand in his work while Mike Nentwig writes furiously.





Cathi Fletcher helps a confused Danny Stovall complete his layout.

Chris Walsh listens intently as Mr. Brower explains the finer points of being a part of the illustrious yearbook staff.

"Hmm, what can I possibly do to make this layout really fantastic?" ponders Mia Dalisay.

Putting the spirit into it

huskies

Students may come and students may go, but in their hearts they'll always be Huskies. Just ask the students who made this year one of special memories and friendships. Freshmen came to school full of doubts and uncertainties and left with the energy and enthusiasm that marked their first year of high school. They pulled together for a memorable first Spirit Week, proving you don't need experience to have the Husky spirit, a theme they carried out the whole year, through active participation in sports, clubs, and activities.

Sophomores returned to Washington to continue the Husky tradition, looking forward to bigger and better things. The usual goal, of course, was the acquisition of the liberating drivers license, the ticket to cruise the streets, to go where you want when you want, and avoid being seen on the school bus. But even this rite of passage, ever paramount as the sixteenth birthday draws near, didn't keep the energetic sophomores from turning out a great Spirit Week. It didn't surprise anyone, Washington just wouldn't be the same without the sophomore Huskies contributing their spirit.

Upperclassmen at last, juniors had big plans for the year. Their ambition was shown by a spectacular Spirit Week. But life wasn't all fun and games, the junior year saw the start of college stress. SATs suddenly had students discussing the implications of four consecutive B answers and lugging around fat study guides in last minute cramming. Still, even that couldn't keep juniors from looking forward to the Junior Prom, the night of dreams, dresses, and dancing 'til dawn.

Seniors, trudging back to school with the vow to take it for just one more year, soon showed no shortage of enthusiasm to pour into their last year of high school. Spirit Week showed them off to their full potential, but the fun continued throughout the year. Senior Picnic was a chance for fun in the sun. Senior Breakfast and Senior Fling helped ease the long stretch until June, when graduation day finally arrived. It was a bittersweet day to leave their high school career behind forever, but afterwards Grad Night became a celebration of these last four years, these old friends, and these special memories, like that last dance at the Senior Ball. They were things never to be forgotten.

On the first day of school it was overwhelming to finally be in high school. For many of us, it was our first trip into the new gym. The tremendous spirit, which the school possessed, awed our class into silence. As Homecoming and Spirit Week neared, the spirit pulled us in, never to let go. With the little time we had, we performed a dynamic skit that even the upper classmen were proud of.

As the year moved on, we had new and exciting experiences; our first Winter Ball, football games, and much, much more. We also got our first experience of an open campus. For many of us, we spent our lunches at McDonald's and at the Hub.

Throughout the next three years, we hope that our lives will change through the trials and tribulations of high school life. Washington is our home away from home, and the Husky is our symbol of pride. The class of 1996 will show their spirit everyday through our participation in all of WHS's events.

Powderpuff Game

The fun of winter break had just ended, but the thrill of Powderpuff was yet to begin. Junior and senior girls returned ready to put in a month of intense training and strenuous practice on the football field, perfecting passes, interceptions, and handoffs. In their first chance to show off their football finesse, the scrimmage January 29, the senior won 18 - 0, which only served to whet the appetite for victory in the February 6 Powderpuff Game. With the opening kick off, the war was on to see which team would finally conquer the football field. In the first quarter, the seniors seized the early lead by scoring the first touchdown. With renewed effort from the juniors, the score held steady at 6 - 0, until senior might prevailed once again in the third quarter with a second touchdown. Both teams played long and hard, but in the end the seniors triumphed 12 - 0, and the Class of '93 walked off the field as the Powderpuff champions.

Powderpuff Cheerleaders

We've got spirit, yes we do! We've got spirit, how about you? This year's powderpuff cheerleaders definitely radiated with lots of Husky spirit and pride. Even though there were only five powderpuff cheerleaders this year, they did not let their small squad interfere with their enthusiasm. These cheerleaders lead cheers and rallied afterwards with spirit packed jumps. There's no doubt that powderpuff cheerleaders are one of the best reasons for attending the powderpuff game!

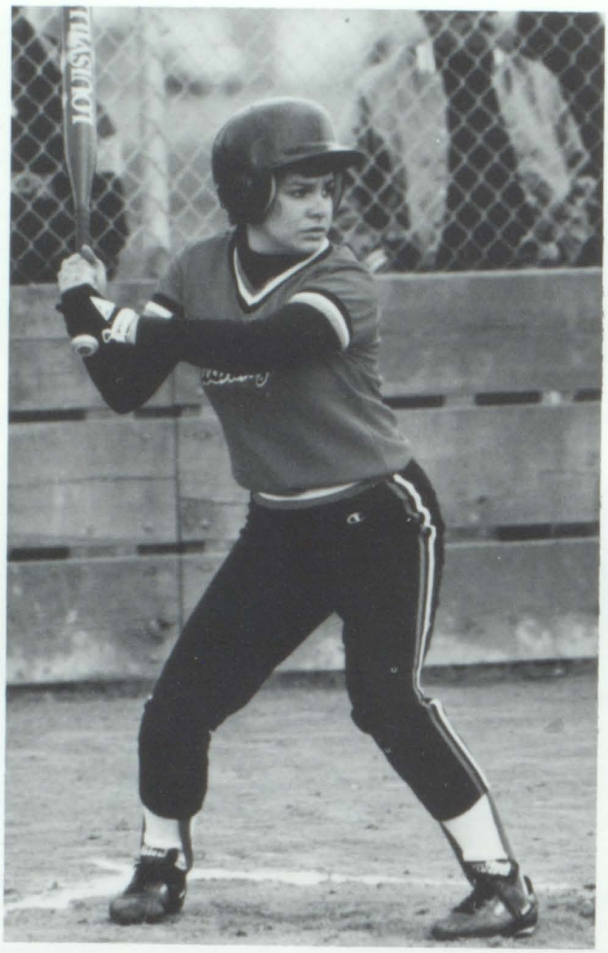
1989-1990

Our freshman year was a year of "firsts". On the first day of school, the majority of us looked lost as we tried to find our classes. We learned what real competition is through athletics and about a thing called "spirit week," where we proved that the class of 1993 could match any other.



1990-1991

As sophomores we were still unsure of ourselves, but we now had an idea of how the game was played. This was the year that we established ourselves in spirit week, even without a gym. Some of us were still getting used to being a part of WHS, while others were busy teasing the new freshmen.

1991-1992

Our junior year finally elevated us to upperclassmen. This year we were finally in the race for first place in spirit week, and many experienced the new game of powder puff. The junior prom created more memories, and we all began our preparations for college, taking the dreaded SAT and ACT.

1992-1993

All of the good and bad memories all came together in our senior year. We know that we are all alike in some way, we are all Huskies. Our final year together is the end of the world as we know it. We will all go our separate ways, but we will always remain a part of the class of 1993.

. . . And This Is Now . . .

Senior

Senior class officers: Vice-president Amy Bettencourt, Secretary Trisha Wong, Treasurer Liz Mousourakis, and President Amy Coutee.

The memories which we've made here at Washington High School will stay with us for as long as we live. As we look back we can see our freshmen year as we started out, unsure of our new surroundings. Next there was our sophomore year and this time when spirit week rolled around we were ready, taking 2nd place and proving to ourselves that we could do it! Then, it was our junior year; we were now officially upperclassmen! We watched the construction of a new gym and with it the rejuvenation of Husky pride. And now here we are, SENIORS! We survived 4 spirit weeks, the destruction and building of our gym, winning and losing sports seasons, and through it all, somehow, someway, we survived. To all of you I wish the best of luck!

Remember When . . .

WHEN I WAS A FRESHMAN . . . I felt so weak and feeble like a fly crouched in a corner on the edge of death A.H. and then i died F.H. or was it my imagination? was i alive? M.N. did i have to live through this for four years? C.D. yes N.B. because i have no choice. J.C. i was ret 2 go T.D. at least i. could open my locker from the inside. after all that's where i spent my lunch periods for first semester. then my mother showed up with my sesame street lunch box during fourth period P.E. A.L. and then i got thrown into the girls locker room only wearing my athletic supporter D.S. the girls gymnastic team locked me in a locker where i sat philosophizing. L.N. about the "basic nature of man" C.K. so i started a new life A.P. my mommy didn't take me to school anymore, W.M. because the heel toe express was always going my way then one day . . . T.M.B. i was attacked by my worst nightmare N.Y. my senior brother and his friends. A.S. but it wasn't my worst freshman experience, my worst was . . . C.F. when i tripped on my way to class M.K. ran into the cutest senior S.M. as my backpack broke and papers flew all over E.K. he bent down to help me pick them up and M.D. we hit heads and his front tooth A.L.C. fell out of his mouth and blood went all over the place D.M. then he tried to sell me an elevator pass so feeling sorry for him A.H. i took the elevator pass and kicked him in the head M.I. and went on my way hoping he would die of embarrassment. L.F. and then I tried to try to find my next class A.M. but i ended up going to the wrong room J.P. and feeling pretty dumb and i felt mislead i ended up eating a bucket of chitlings and smelling bad. and then i went to my next class. K.B. BUT THEN I TURNED INTO A SOPHOMORE and the ringleaders were conceived R.L., i thought i'd be with Nicole forever N.B., i thought i was a dork, i still unfortunately am K.B., i wished i could of played basketball M.B., i had hopes of growing to be at least 5'6 what happened I'm only 5'3'C.S., i thought i'd grow too D.M., i learned that high school was just a four year party J.D., i experimented with a lot of crazy things M.T., such as freshmen, smoking, T.L., and just plain having fun T.W. it was fun and i loved every minute C.S. of the homework that the teachers gave . . . sike K.M. but most of all i liked to do my English homework S.P. especially when i was able to write about the significance of the sun rising in the morning T.H. but of course we can never forget that Russia really wanted warm water ports D.D. but don't forget that sprinklers are really cool on a hot summers day and bambi's mother's death was tragedy A.K.C. i remember blowing up a microscope and the worm that wouldn't die J.P. and how i ate so much i blew up like a big blonde balloon. E.W. and exploded all over my mothers new couch and left stains on her antique rug T.W. . . . AND THEN I TURNED INTO A JUNIOR AND . . . i thought i was S.S. too smart for school Z.S. and now i still feel the same R.R. we rode our bikes in the rain to AnnJams A.B. but ended up in San Francisco that's where i met a famous baseball star. elliott R.K.L. we put our hoods on, locked arms and danced to opera music in the street. K.D.S. then i found out that the famous baseball star was R.D.C. nothing but a girl in disguise that people called helmet head, it tried to C.M.C. kick us out of the party because we were breaking every thing N.F. and but i had to call toby and see who was playing nintendo in the bedroom T.A. and i found out that they weren't playing nintendo, but were in the bathroom trying to stop the overflowed tiolette A.L. but they couldn't so they went swimming at 4 a.m. S.L.O. with my men in g-strings J.P. dancing in front of me smoking K.C. then the pump jumped over the fence with a 9 L.P. dah! what happened A.K. I passed gas in 5th period J.A. because i bent down to pick up a hot dog J.J.M. i was delirious from that funky smell M.A.G. but i realized i had a hang nail on my belly button B.G. so i passed another one to get rid of some of the pressure J.A.C. i had a lot of fun playing with J.D.W. then i felt a little faint from the deadly fumes C.A.B. i ran to taco bell for some more S.F. i let another one and cleared the place out T.A.D. but then i realized that i went poo poo in my shorts T.Q.T. it started running down my leg so i ate some peanut m&m's A.S.H. then a u.f.o. came out of the sky and chopped off my leg M.M. so i chopped his head off P.C. and the aaaaaaaaarrrrrrgh $.n i went back to school and started over AS A SENIOR. I cut school and T.M. went to the beach S.E. my friends and i scammed on some guys C.M. my swimsuit top fell off when R.S. i was trying to body surf H.G. and i gave new meaning to the word "body surf" so A.S. when i tried to put it back on i tripped and fell and T.M. and landed right next to the finest guy who T.K. stole my top and ran to K.H. the lifeguard where he ran my top up the flagpole and V.M. when i went to go get it a pack of wolves tore my bottoms off S.H. so i stopped and did the bootie dance yelled fushnikens then A.K. the cow jumped over the moon S.N.H. he tripped over a star and ate the big bush in the cup o'noodles soup H.N.S. then yeah he said yum and went to the bathroom and sat right down in the cup o' noodles came out brown and A.R. i stepped in it when G.B. i was singing the "ha hee": song and doing the hokie pokie C.J.B. then i asked the teacher D.L. what is the meaning of life? H.H. he said K.H. tell you the truth i have no idea except that you just listen to siouxsie and the banshees S.S. and proceed to spank that bad little pipecleaner and call him pooky after that you D.D. do what you like and R.M. go about your business if it means stealing a car or S.P. robbing a bank D.M. and going home while M.J. thinking about freshmen i will put in garbage cans the next day J.D. i thought to myself maybe i can also put him in a A.M. and then take him and hang him on the S.B.D. flag pole L.E. and the coyote finally caught the roadrunner S.J. also Andrew Dice Clay became nice yeah right then monkeys flew out of my butt D.J.R.!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Senior

Well Seniors, your Washington High School experience has come and gone and Senior Breakfast was a great way to celebrate it! It took place at the luxurious Newark Pavilion where everyone enjoyed the buffet breakfast and stuffed themselves silly.

This was a time for friends to get together and remember all the great and not so great times they had in high school. Laughter and smiling faces radiated from reminiscent Seniors who were rejoicing in the long awaited entrance into the "real world."

The highlight of the Senior Breakfast included the announcement of the beloved "Senior Favorites." This was where the favorites for each category, some of which were campus clown, most spirited, best smile, and best of friends, were announced.

Tera Krochak crushes Manny Gonzalez with her stupendous strength hoping that he won't mess with her, meanwhile Jeremy Montoya looks away in amazement.

Seniors file into the Senior Breakfast one by one. "C'mon guys smile and at least look like you're having fun," sighs Jill Manrique with exasperation.

All the proud mothers pose for a picture in front of the incredible "Last Breakfast" for the Seniors. Thanks for helping out with everything moms!

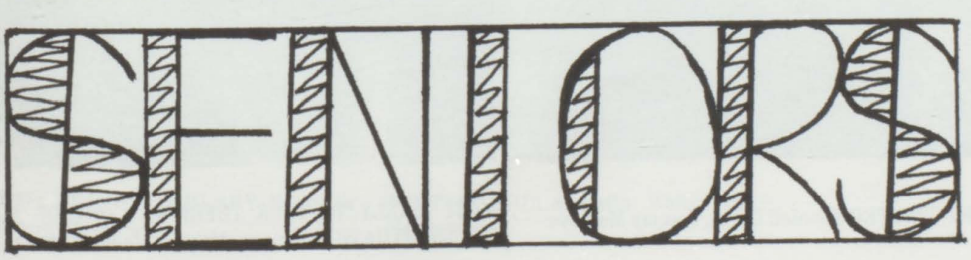
Amy Clark and Lisa Corrie make their debut at the exciting and extravagant Senior Breakfast. Don't they look incredibly enthusiastic and alive! . . . Wake up guys!

Breakfast

Drew Harrill wonders how this incredibly exquisite cuisine could only cost $7.00. "I couldn't eat another bite!"

Cathi Fletcher explains the intricate details of being a Yearbook Editor and how wonderful it really is . . . Not!

Tammy Warren, Carmen Sanchez, Kecia McGaffey, Helen Presley, and Tracy Lord chow down on their Senior Feast but not without posing for a glamour shot. Are you having fun yet????



Wendy Martin smiles gleefully at the camera, "Hey guys, don't you all wish you were here with all this great food!"

Senior

MOST CONTAGIOUS SMILE-Tanda Murdica, Andrew Harrill.

MOST CHANGED SINCE FRESHMEN YEAR-Amy Clark, Brian Williams.

ATTACHED AT THE HIP-Brian Gelfuso, Jason Colon.

MOST SPIRITED-Shantell Garza, Jeremy Montoya.

MOST LIKELY TO TALK THEIR WAY OUT OF A STICKY SITUATION-Vanessa Marchis, James Farag.

Favorites

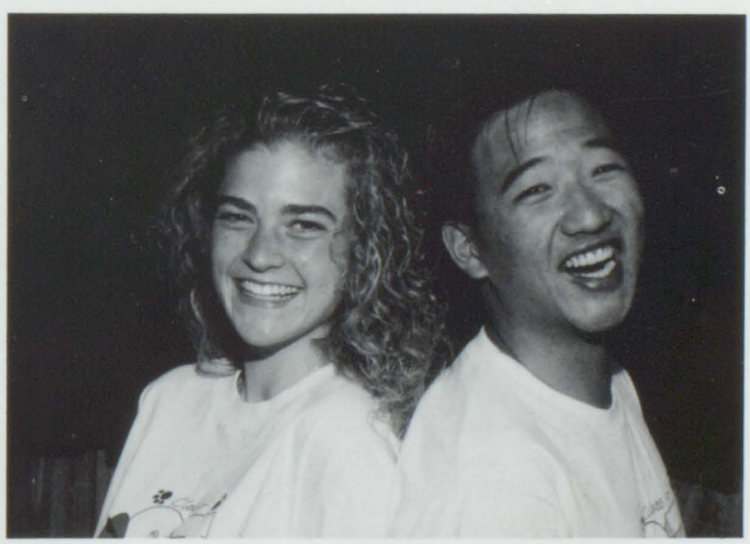
ATTACHED AT THE HIP-Allison Granot, Pennie Goyert, Sharone Granot.

MOST HUMOROUS HUSKY-Talethia Dandie, Steve Putt.

MOST INDIVIDUAL-Keith Wells, Kim Halstead.

MOST CEREBRAL SENIOR-Avani Patal, Andy Stonas.

MOST ATHLETICALLY INCLINED-Michelle Keller, Jared Hattaway.



BEST ALL AROUND-Amy Coutee, Leon.Yu.

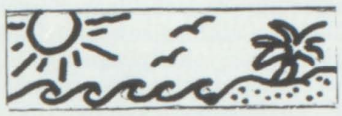
Senior Picnic

And they're off, the leader to the left by half a length, but catching up . . .

"Help, I've fallen and I can't get up," screams Michelle Keller.

Showing Husky spirit Billy Francis and Joe Alfaro pass over the other mats to get an orange one.

What's this? How can there beach volleyball in Manteca, they don't even have a beach. Anything's possible!

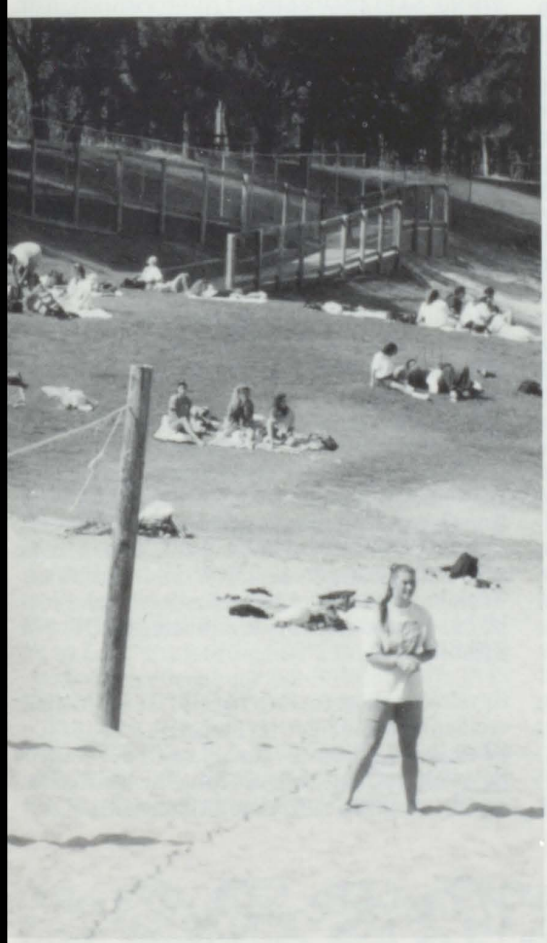


The sun glowed upon your body, the breeze waved your hair, and your arm dangled in the cool water. Ah yes, this would not be a day for being left in the peril of school. That was to be left to the poor underclassmen. But for the seniors it was to be a relaxing and enjoyable day at the waterslides.

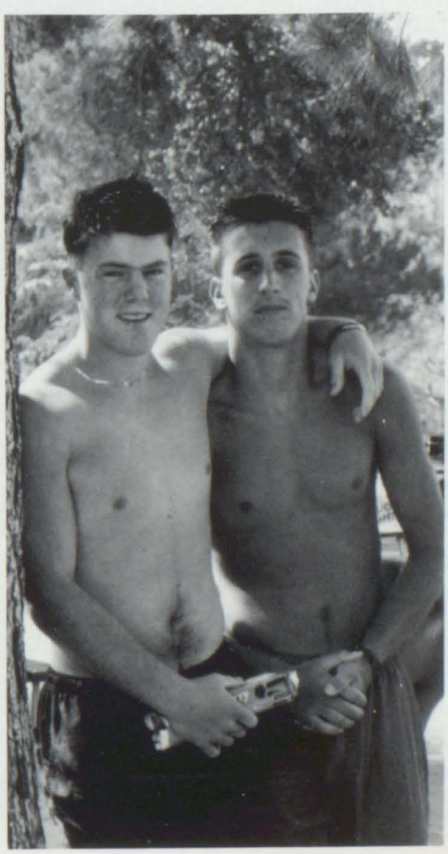
Racing down long, winding slides and ending up in a cool paradise at the bottom. Relaxing on a plush green lawn, soft with moisture. Or if daring enough, diving off a platform hundreds of feet in the air with only a bungee cord keeping you from splattering all over the ground.

What a day this was. All the seniors, together! We had the merriest of times!

"No, first we go on the waterslides, then we bungee jump, after . . .," says Sharon Granot to Allison Granot and Pennie Goyert as they plan their day.



Deciding if they want to return to the slides or play a little beach volleyball are Drew Harrill and Lisa Nieves.



Joel Sandoz explains to Charlie Albertalli how the Oakwood Lake Resort's waterslides work.

Lots of love to my sister Julie. Thanks for always being there with endless echoes of encouragement. Thanks to Dora for paving my path. Here's to many more "runs for the border!"Julia you are my clone, and from perfect 10s to movies we are always in sync. (Daliy's Newark fans Stanford) You signify friends hip with lazer perfection. Thanks to Matt who is always giving a helping hand. We can't paint great rooms but Kris you have painted me a gallery of memories. Thanx to my family for putting up with me over the years! Love Jenn Corbett.

This is going out to Harold, Manny, Jelly, and Boo. It has been a crazy four years. I want to apolize to all of you for not playing this year. Forgive me! Lastly, take care of yourself and goodluck PEACE-Chin This is to my girl. Luong NHU HAO. You have been there for me when I need YOU and you love me when no one else would. I want everyone to know that I gave my heart to HER and if she leave, she would take my heart with her. I love you Honey and I will always. TON QUANG THAO

Ha! Ha! all nonseniors we're out of school and you're not! But don't rush it; enjoy high school life and you'll be out before you know. Alex your next year will be your best year so have fun! I hope you're voted most individual for senior favorites! Shelly you have a few years to go so take your time and help Melissa around campus. Tracy you R a butt pellet! Not-a-lie keep DEMANDING the best from life; you'll go far! Duane, keep in touch-or else! I wish the best of luck 2 the other seniors! Robinson, Bentley U R the best!! AMANDA FINCH

Howdy Fellow Seniors-Well we are finally off to bigger and better things. Pretty exciting huh? To-Amy C, Amy B, Cathi, Mel, Trisha, Erin, Shonna-thanks for all of the memories. Cathi-I hafta go to the bathroom but I can't get these things off. Amy B.-from long walks home from Glenmore to trips to Taco-Bell in the Winnebego. Amy C.-The one with the phsycho bike and the pizza rolls. Shonna-I hope you feel better someday. Erin-Support ducks unlimited! Trisha-for all those times I called the Wong# Lisa M.-WaaaYOUR UGLY:??? To getting lost on the way to Marine World to yelling at people on the way to Santa Cruz: To the B-ball Team-pound the cheese M.M. What's up? See you in church somtime. Buddy-Sharpen those coxals. Smell-I'm walking home. Hello, Hello. Thanks for all the memories. Coach Paris Thanks for everything. To Mom and Dad Thanks for all the support. Good Luck Class of 93! Turn off your mind, relax and float down stream. RINGLEADERS '93 It's over, man! Phil-"He's a really big guy, but he's got a really small . . . ?" Sorry Lihp, I had to say it. Can I go camping? Want some milk? Charlie-Ever seen her naked? Neither have I! Never let a girl drive your car. don't get that third point. Good luck with Jen.Jabobo-Household name? Not yet, Don't kneel on glass tables. Dex-Wanna race? Willy-Want some purple passion? I can drive. Ashish-Pleasure doing business with you. Leon-The light is green, go. Thanks for all the rides, I'll buy you some Dunhills. Gary-Beware the Ides of March. Good luck with Sandra. Turn on the strobe and we'll have some grog. Dan-Sit down! Where is my shoehorn? Let's do some laundry. Darren-Mac Tonight bust the dica-"no man, I don't do that anymore just top." Yeah right, Nohj-check the clouds! Let's not forget to thank Mr. Oldfield and Ritz Camera. Beatles forever! To anyone I missed, tough luck, I'm sorry. These four years have gone by so fast, it seems like yesterday that we were walking to Burrito bar instead of racing back from Taco Bell. Anyone want to play the spoon game? I'm sorry but it's time to go. I'd like to thank you once again. It's getting very near the end. It's time to fly into the light of the dark black night. Wait, wait really quick before you leave . . . Phil did you finish your International layout yet, Kelly finish those dance captions, no Jason you can't have Kerokerokerope on your page, Natalie can you draw us some more artwork, Danny wanna come over at 3 a.m. and listen to us laugh at absolutely nothing, Trisha did you have fun waiting forever for Fahad's picture?!

To the rest: Angie, Lisa, Roselle, ChiChi, Daisy, Chris, John, Mia, Brooke, Lauren, Janine, Mike, Natalie, Mat, Josh, Tiffany, yearbook was a living hell working together but all the time and energy put into it was worth it.

Mia, John, Chris, Lauren, Daisy you have one more year left and we wish you the best of luck! To whomever may succeed us as editors of the Washington we sympathize with you.

EDITORS TIPS 1993:

1. don't eat the food at yearbook camp this summer
2. DON'T use ink on your ladder
3. practice your patience
4. prepare for an intolerable amount of stress
5. get in good with Mr. Brower because you need him, he can really help you.

. . . And for saving our butts an innumerable amount of times we give special thanks to Natalie Young with her artistic talents and to Jason Lowe with his camera ready at our beck and call. Natalie you made a reality of all those minute puzzle pieces we wanted and you even made them dance for us! You figured out that crazy piece of art for the sports layouts and recopied the divider page art over and over and over! Jason you went above and beyond the call of duty when you: reorganized the photo's every week, labeled every negative strip, chased after softball games in Hayward, retyped body copies at 4 a.m., and put up with us through yearbook marathons running for 72 hours at a time! Boy did you get more than you bargained for when you begged Mr. B to get into this class!

Last but definitely not least we thank Mr. Brower for having confidence in us and the utmost patience!

Once again to the 1992-1993 yearbook staff congratulations on a job well done.

To the class of 1993 our four years of hard work has finally paid off and here we are . . . "It's the end of the world as we know it, and we feel fine"!

GOODBYE,
CATHI AND AMY
